Just like any school should be, Otaku Asia is here to teach you. We have books on Ikebana and Origami from Tuttle, contact lenses from GWYshop, paint from Subsonic Forge and guide to drawing clothes from yours truly.

Our school is not be complete without the greatest (and shiniest) student council president, Satsuki Kiryuin an org. like URule!, an idol like Ami Eguchi and a cosplaying teacher like Lee Daine~

So take out a whole sheet of paper and let us start our school together!

- GM Kanddy

Contributor's Question:

Which anime school do you want to go to and why?

Seiso Gakuen High School because if I can't be a music student, I would love to at least be surrounded by people playing lovely classical music.

-Ann Carmel Flores

Umesato Junior High School from Accel World. Internet in the school is so good, and you got a really cute student council president there too.

-John Robert Lim

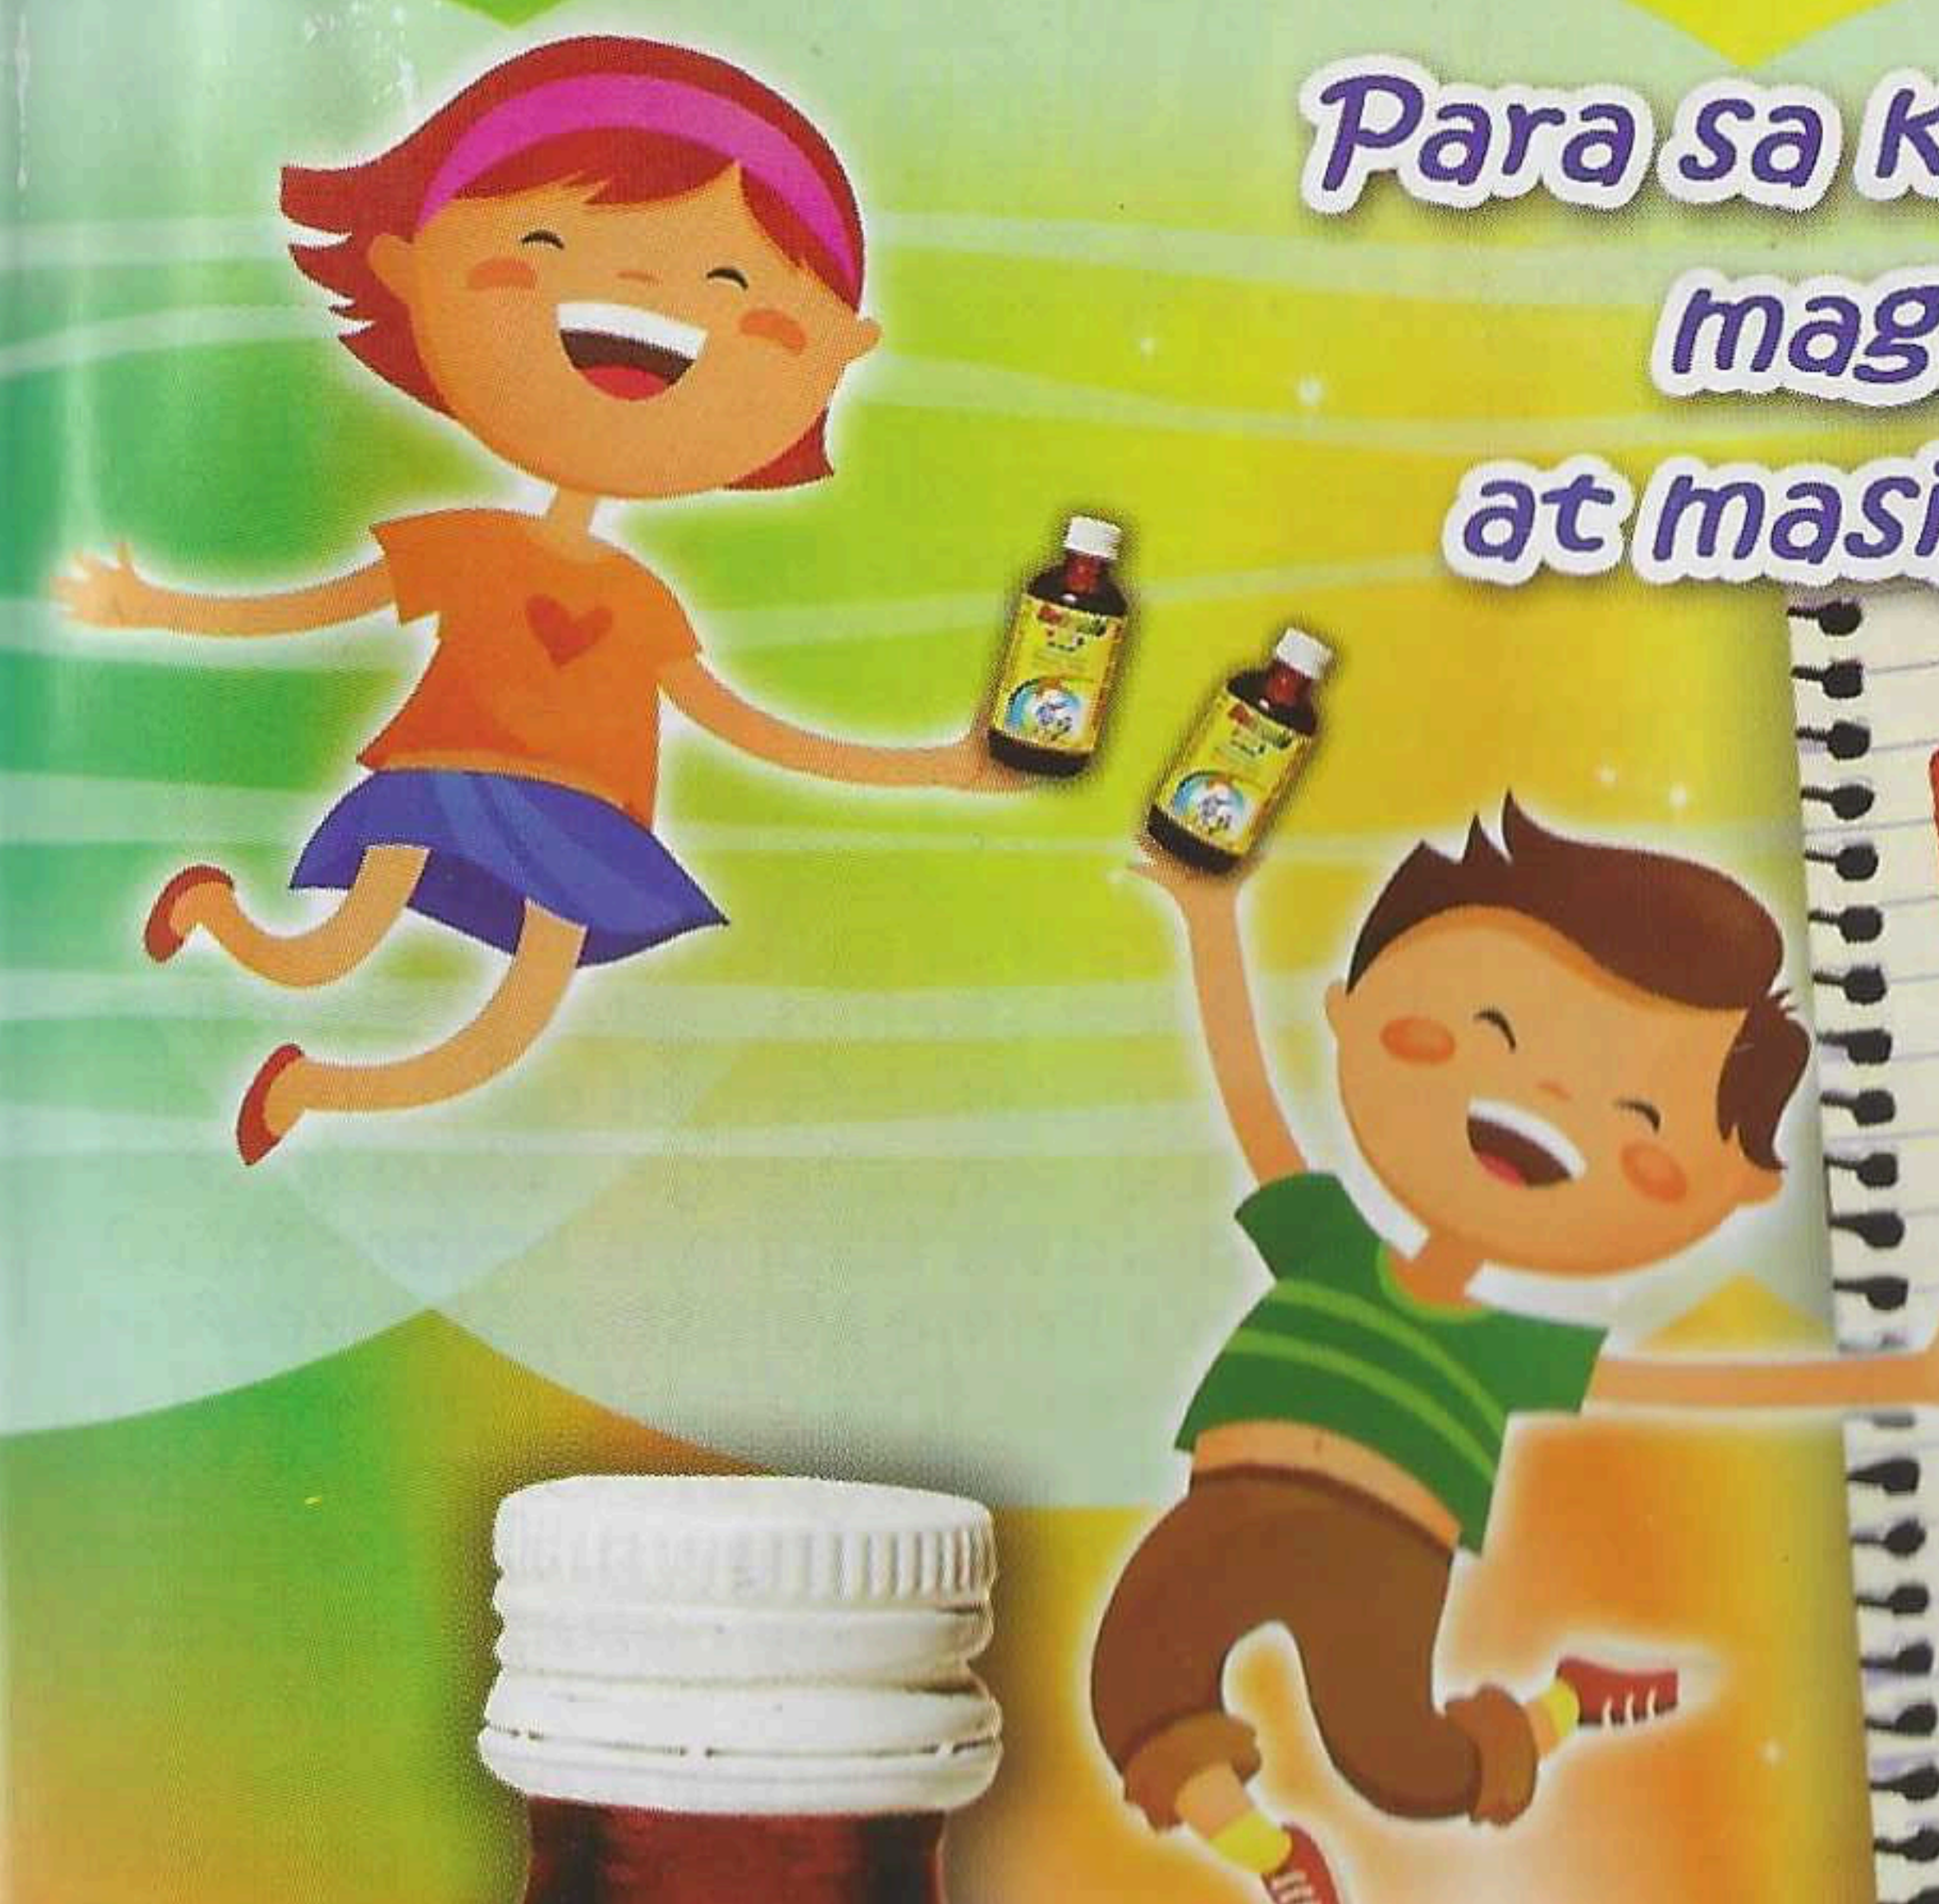

Kunugigaoka Junior High School, Class-E from Ansatsu Kyoushitsu. So that I can be trained to become an assassin, receive the reward and be revered as the hero who saved the world from destruction.

-Seku Hara

Fumizuki Academy from Baka to Test to Shoukanjuu where students participates in the latest examination system and allows them to engage in inter-class summoning wars. I cant believe I'm saying this but, maybe that sort of environment could encourage me to..."study".

TOKYO PREPARES FOR 2020 SUMMER OLYMPICS

The 2020 Summer Olympics and 2020 Paralympic Games will be hosted by Tokyo after winning the bid at the 125th International Olympic Committee (IOC) session in Argentina on last September 7, 2013.

Tokyo, prepares systematically for the Olympics. Their disaster prevention plan will consist of eight goal strategy that will slowly change Tokyo in case of a disaster happens before 2020. Japan's Prime Minister, Shinzo Abe believes that this disaster preventive measure to keep the Olympics safe despite Japan being usually targeted by natural disasters.

Three-year "action programs" break the goals down into manageable projects. For the current time being, the first plan is now being conducted until 2015 which involves 22 policies and 363 projects requiring a budget of approximately 2.7 trillion Yen or approximately 1 billion PHP. This project aims for a complete seismic retrofit of buildings alongside emergency transport roads, construction of wider roads and reinforcing most of the traditional wood houses around the vicinity of Tokyo.

The National Stadium, known to all Japanese people, is about to end its 56 years of history. The stadium will be dismantled in order to be reconstructed from scratch as a brand new stadium for the 2020 Tokyo Olympics.

The dismantling process will begin this July. It will take around 15 months, and is expected to finish in September next year. Told by Yoshitaka Takasaki, head of Japan's Sports Council in a press briefing. The construction of the new National Stadium will begin immediately after, and will take 3 years and a half. The council are aiming to have it done by the end of March 2019.

Tokyo is the first city in Asia which will host the international Olympic Games since 1964 Summer Olympic Games. Since Tokyo will be hosting the event, they also named the Olympics on their own, naming it to Dai Sanjūni-kai Orinpikku Kyōgi Taikai or Games of the XXXII Olympiad and also known as Tokyo Olympics.

HOOKED BOOK

THE MICRO LEAF

Sometimes you'll need to make very small leaves. As the size of our leaves diminishes, it becomes harder to obtain a narrow, good looking stem. This leaf folding pattern is designed with this problem in mind. The stem is created in steps 1 and 2 by a series of folds which resemble rolling, rather than folding, the paper.

1 Begin by folding steps 1 and 2 of the Basic Leaf. Fold the upper left corner to a point which is less than half way to the center. Do the same with the lower right corner.
2 Fold the upper left corner toward the center leaving a gap. Do the same with the lower right corner.
3 Fold the bottom corner up as shown. Complete your Micro Leaf by doing steps 4 and 5 of the Leaf Level on page 99.

4 Your completed leaf should look like this.

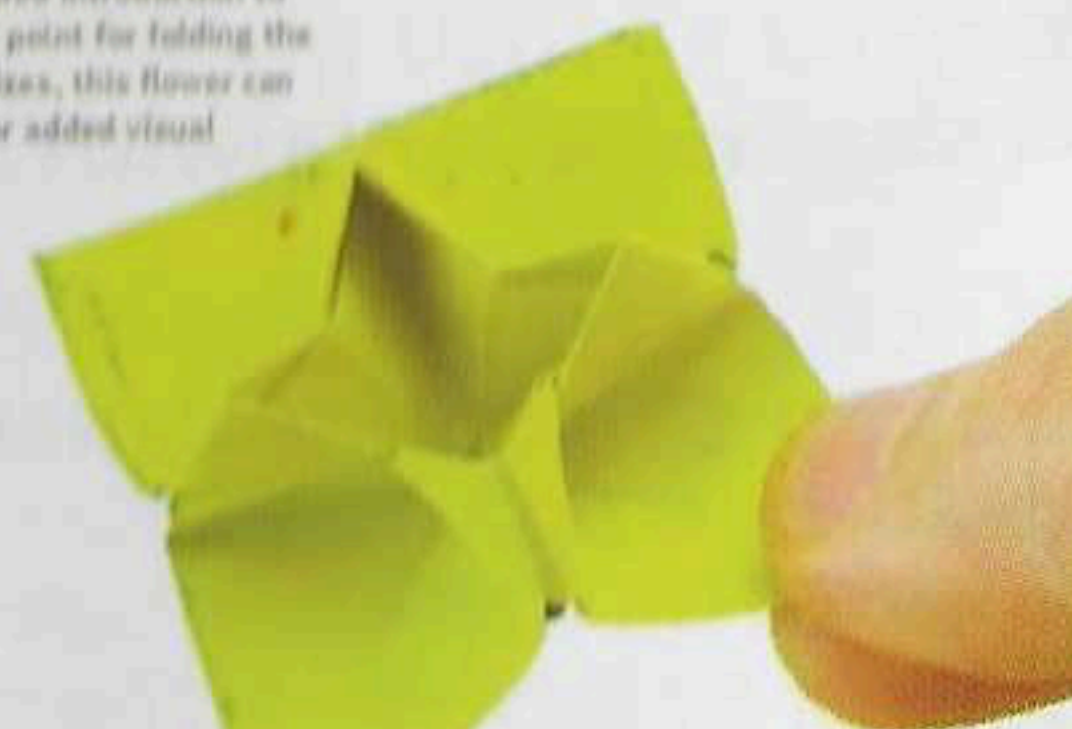

Japanese ikebana for every season

Black Eyed Susan blossoms can be made from very small squares of paper to make tiny flowers like these.

THE BLACK EYED SUSAN

The Black Eyed Susan is a large, relatively flat flower, which is easy to fold. For people new to folding, this flower offers a good introduction to more complex folding and an even better jumping off point for folding the Basic Flower Form (page 44). When made in larger sizes, this flower can add flare. In small sizes it adds little spots of color for added visual complexity.

Ikebana is a traditional Japanese art of flower arranging. With the book Japanese Ikebana For Every Season, you will learn more on flower arranging by Yuji Ueno's unique flower arranging style.

Yuji Ueno shares 53 simple yet inspiring flower arrangements on his book. Whatever will be the season, whether it's sunny, rainy or cold season here in Philippines, the book will guide you to make your flower vases a perfect decoration as possible.

With the very detailed instructions and illustrations of each step, you will never lose your way on flower arranging. Plus, the materials used are cheap, making this book guide a budget friendly. Not only are traditional flower arrangements contained on this book but also more advanced techniques such as flower stabilization and supports.

Your flower vases and decorations will be livelier with the help of the Japanese Ikebana For Every Season books, so make sure to add this on your cart.

2. Dip the brush in the paint and apply it to the paper.

3. Use the brush to create a light, even coat of paint.

4. Allow the paint to dry completely.

ASSEMBLING ORIGAMI IKEBANA

Drawing Clothes!

①

Practice with squiggles, turning them into fabric.

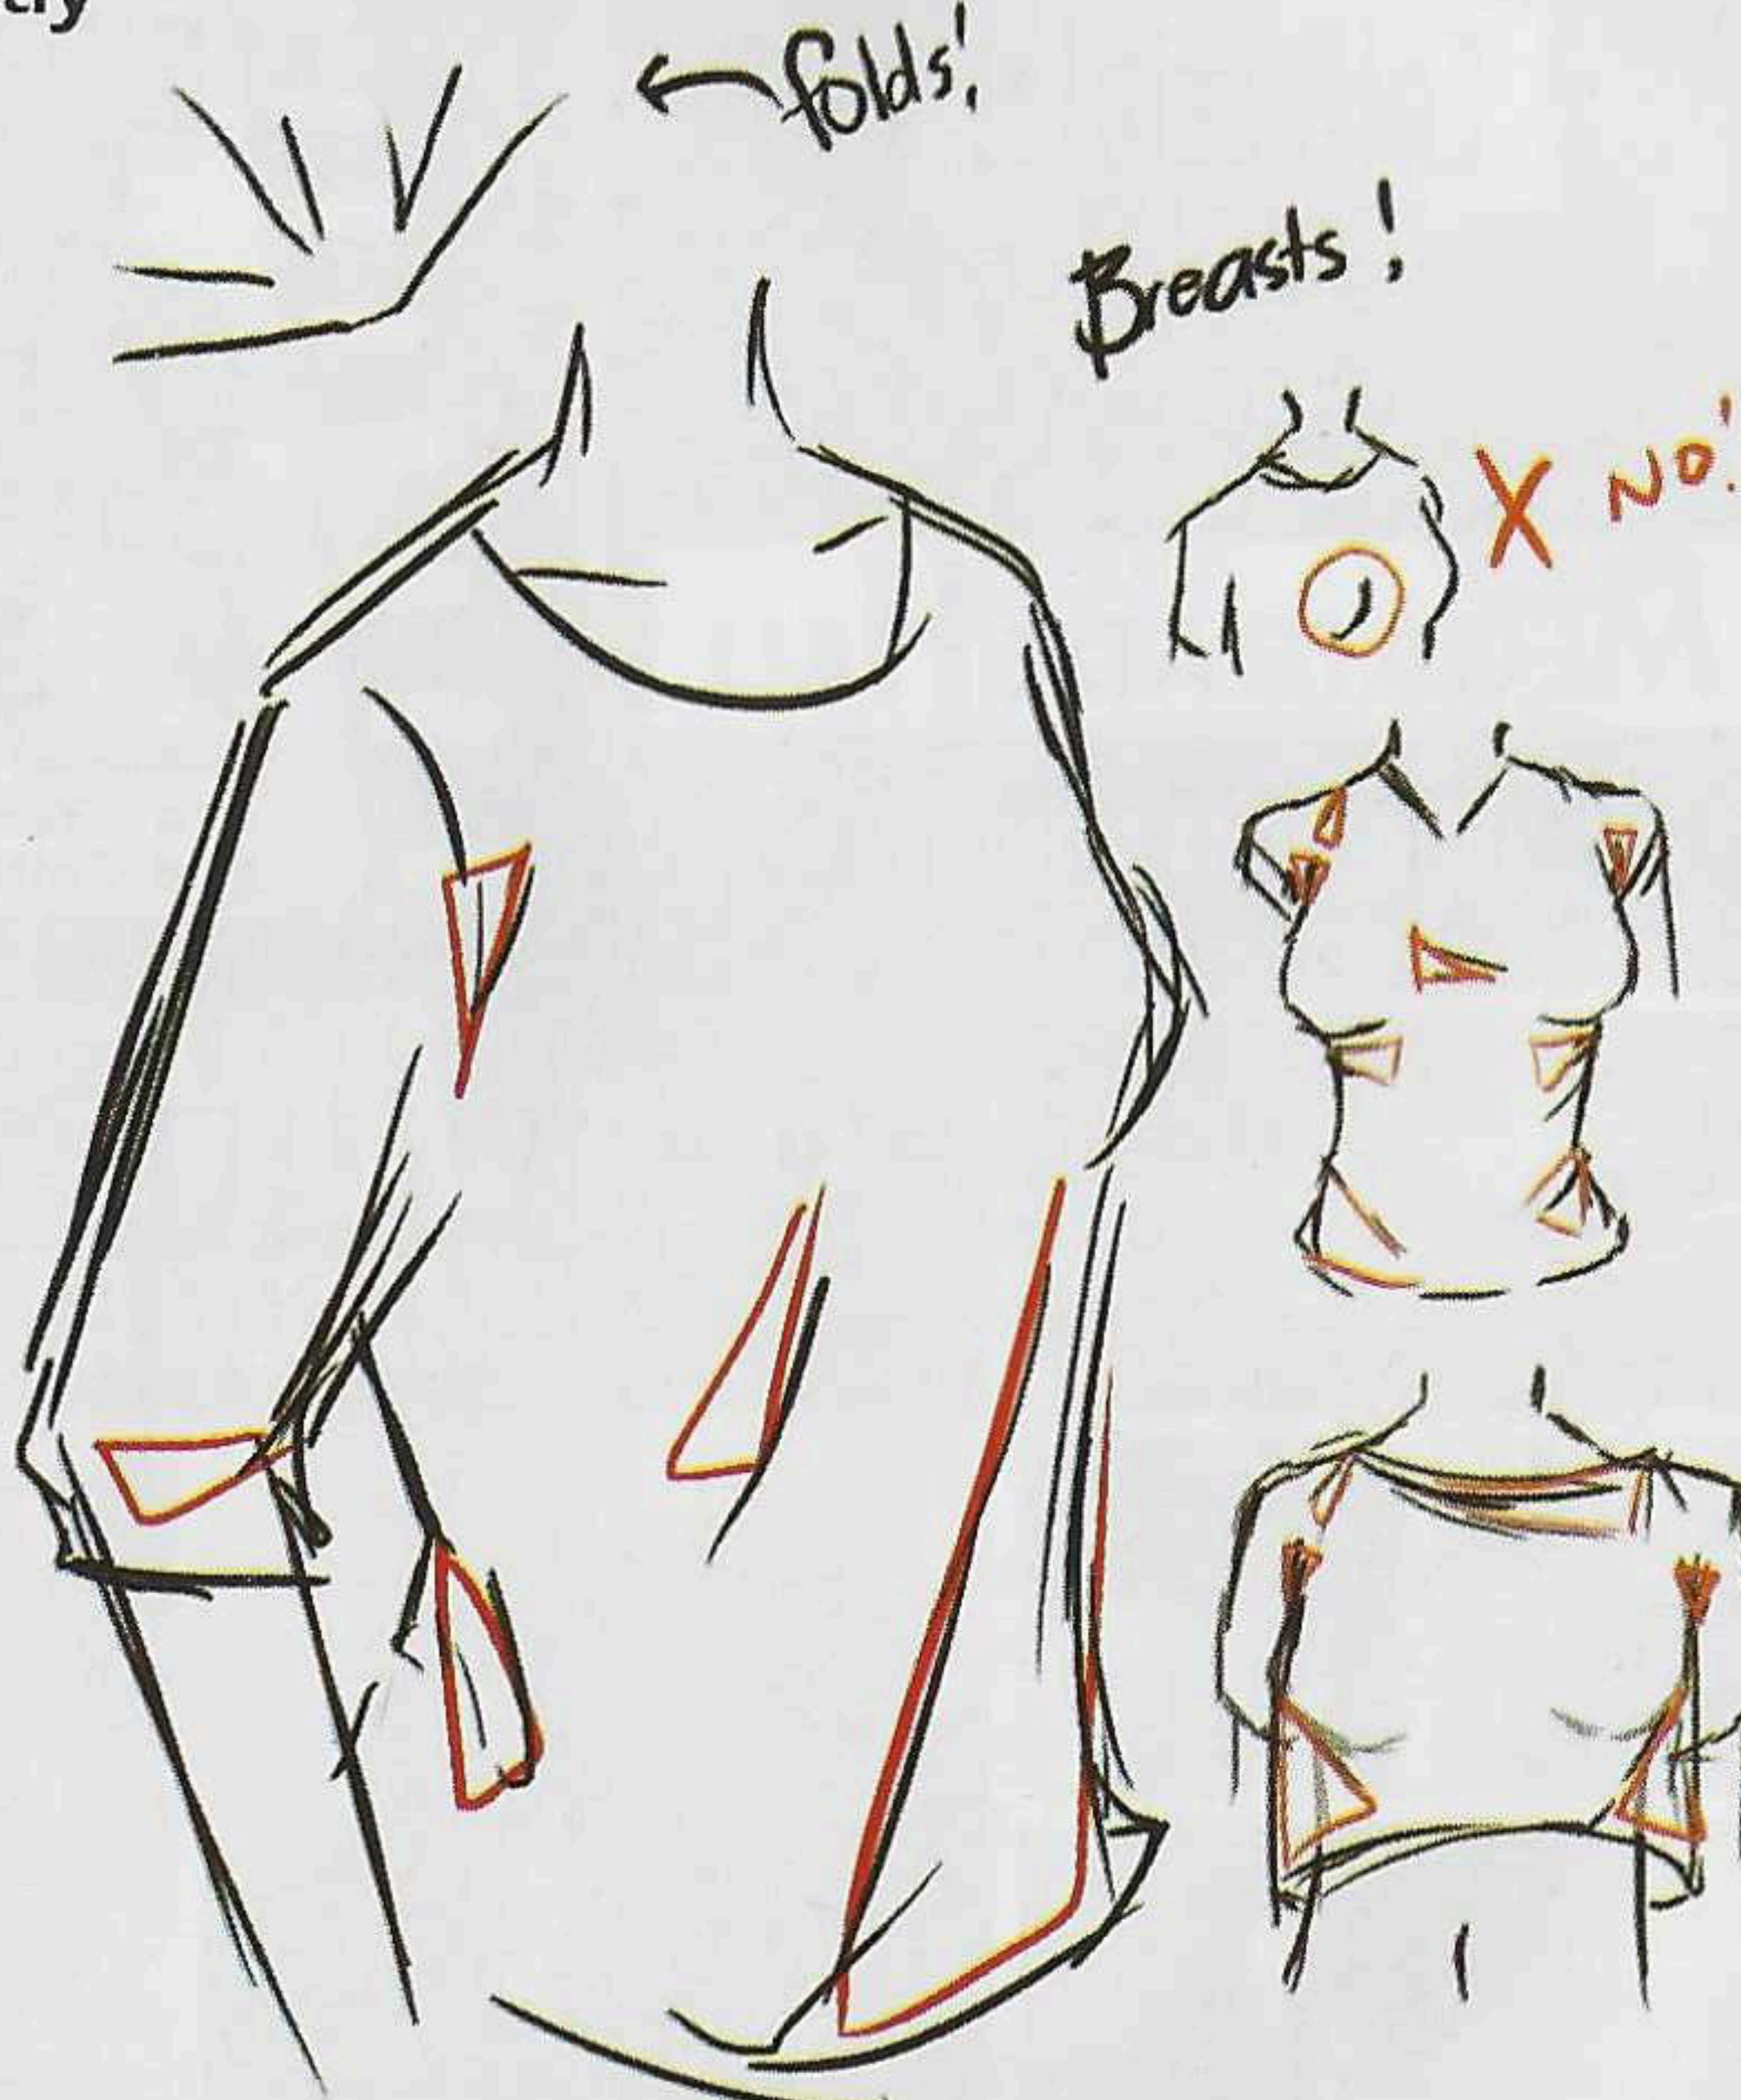

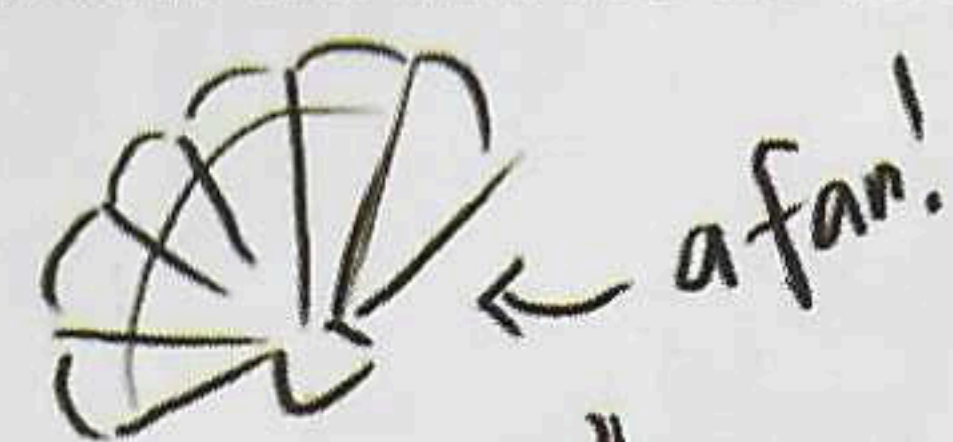

Remember that fabric isn't flat, it's 3D and has shadows.

②

Triangles will be your best friend. Folds don't fall into perfect place, it actually fans out. Imagine a fan. The head of the fan is where the body fight the cloth: chest, armpit, elbow, hips (but there can be exceptions). The best exercise would be to look at clothes everyday~

Puffs and ruffles <3

Ribbing is when a part of the clothing scrunches up the fabric.

The lines go from the ribbing and out. Still remember your triangles!

Ruffles~ go crazy with the squiggles then just add lines

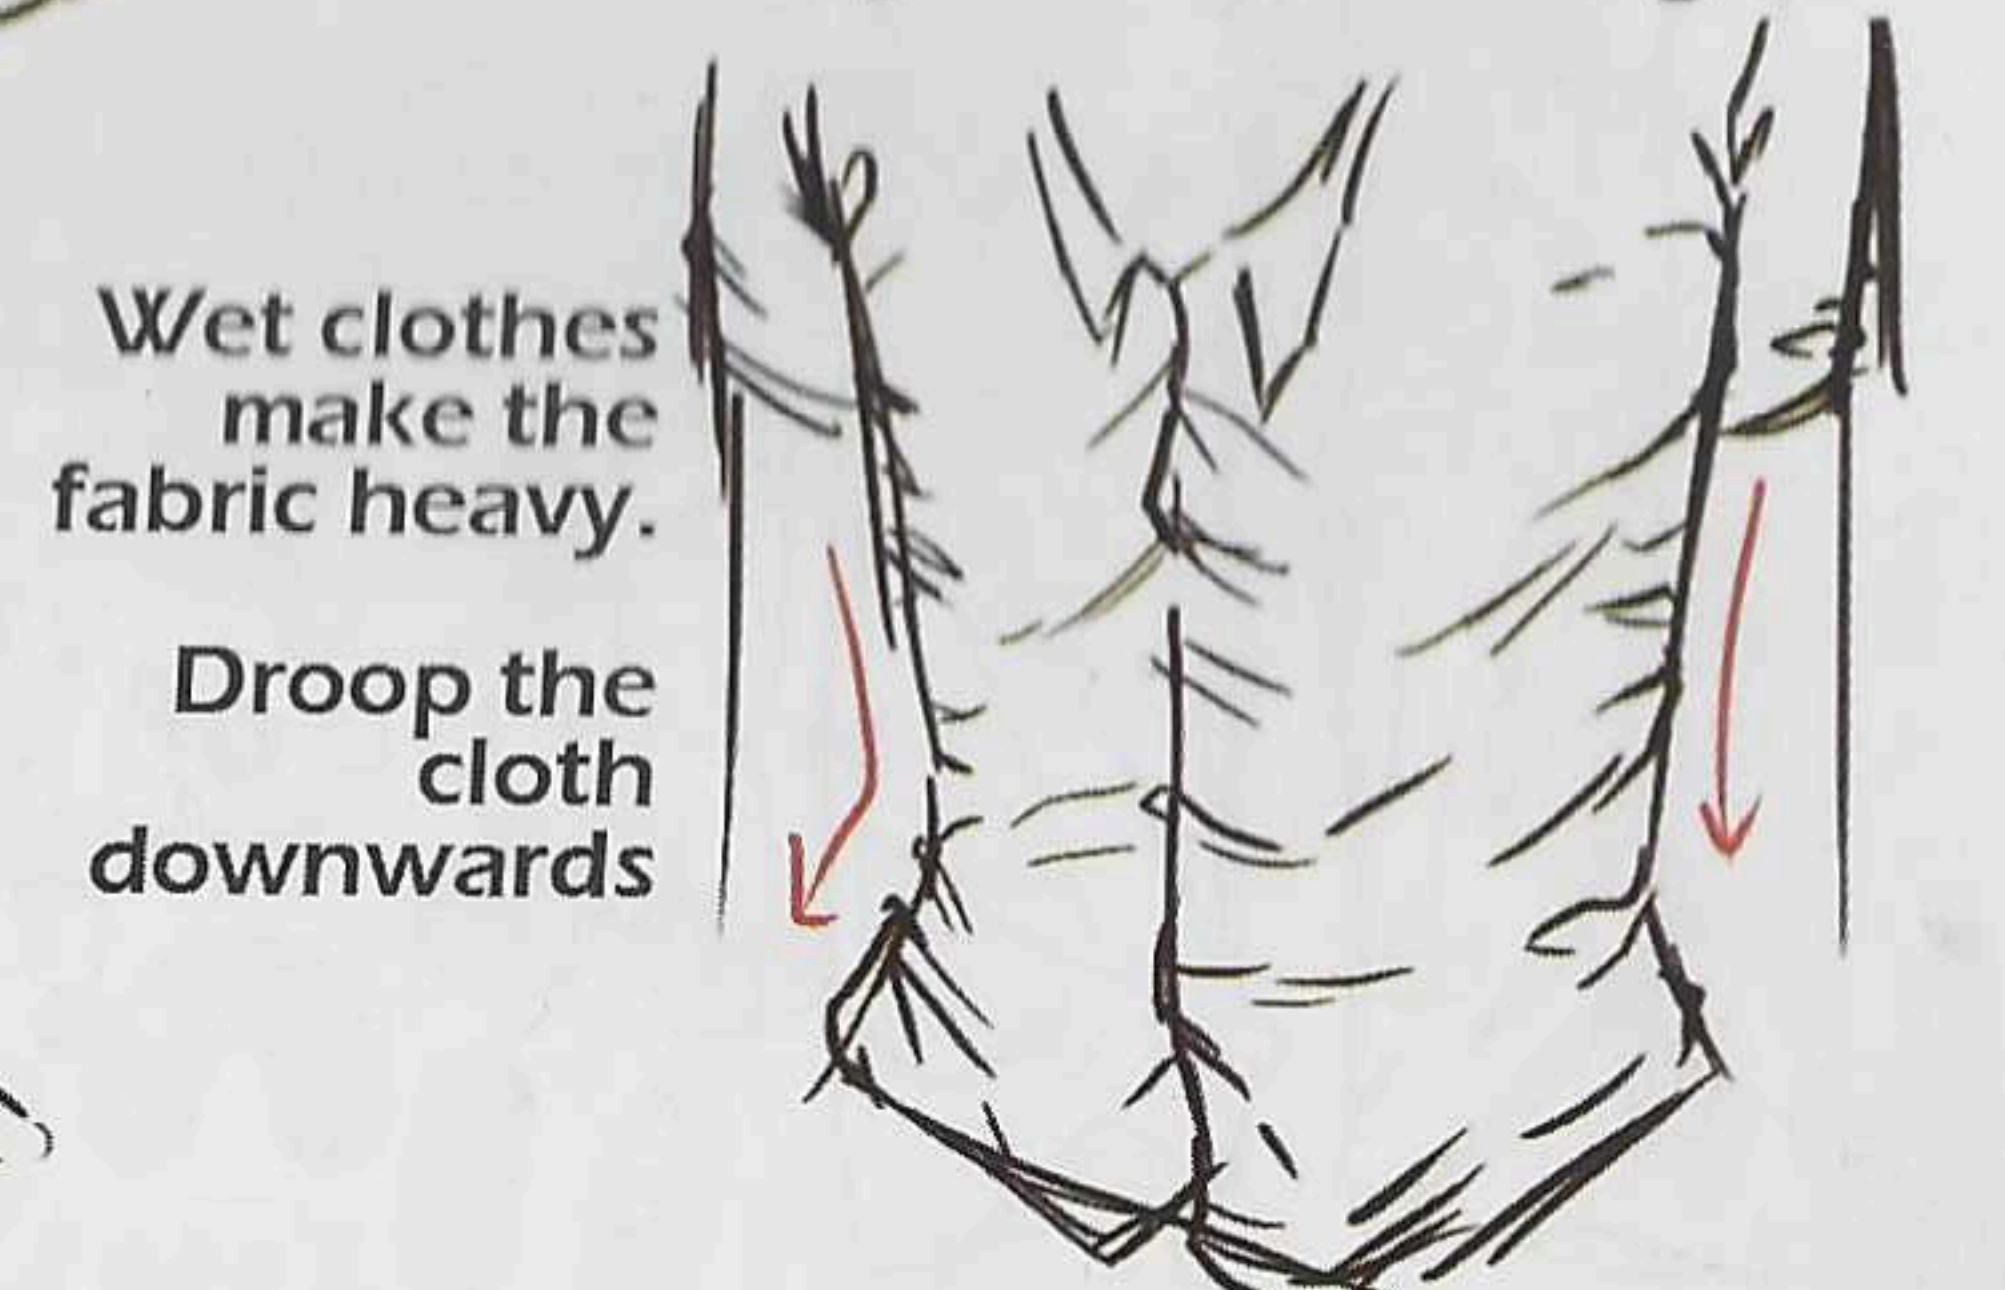

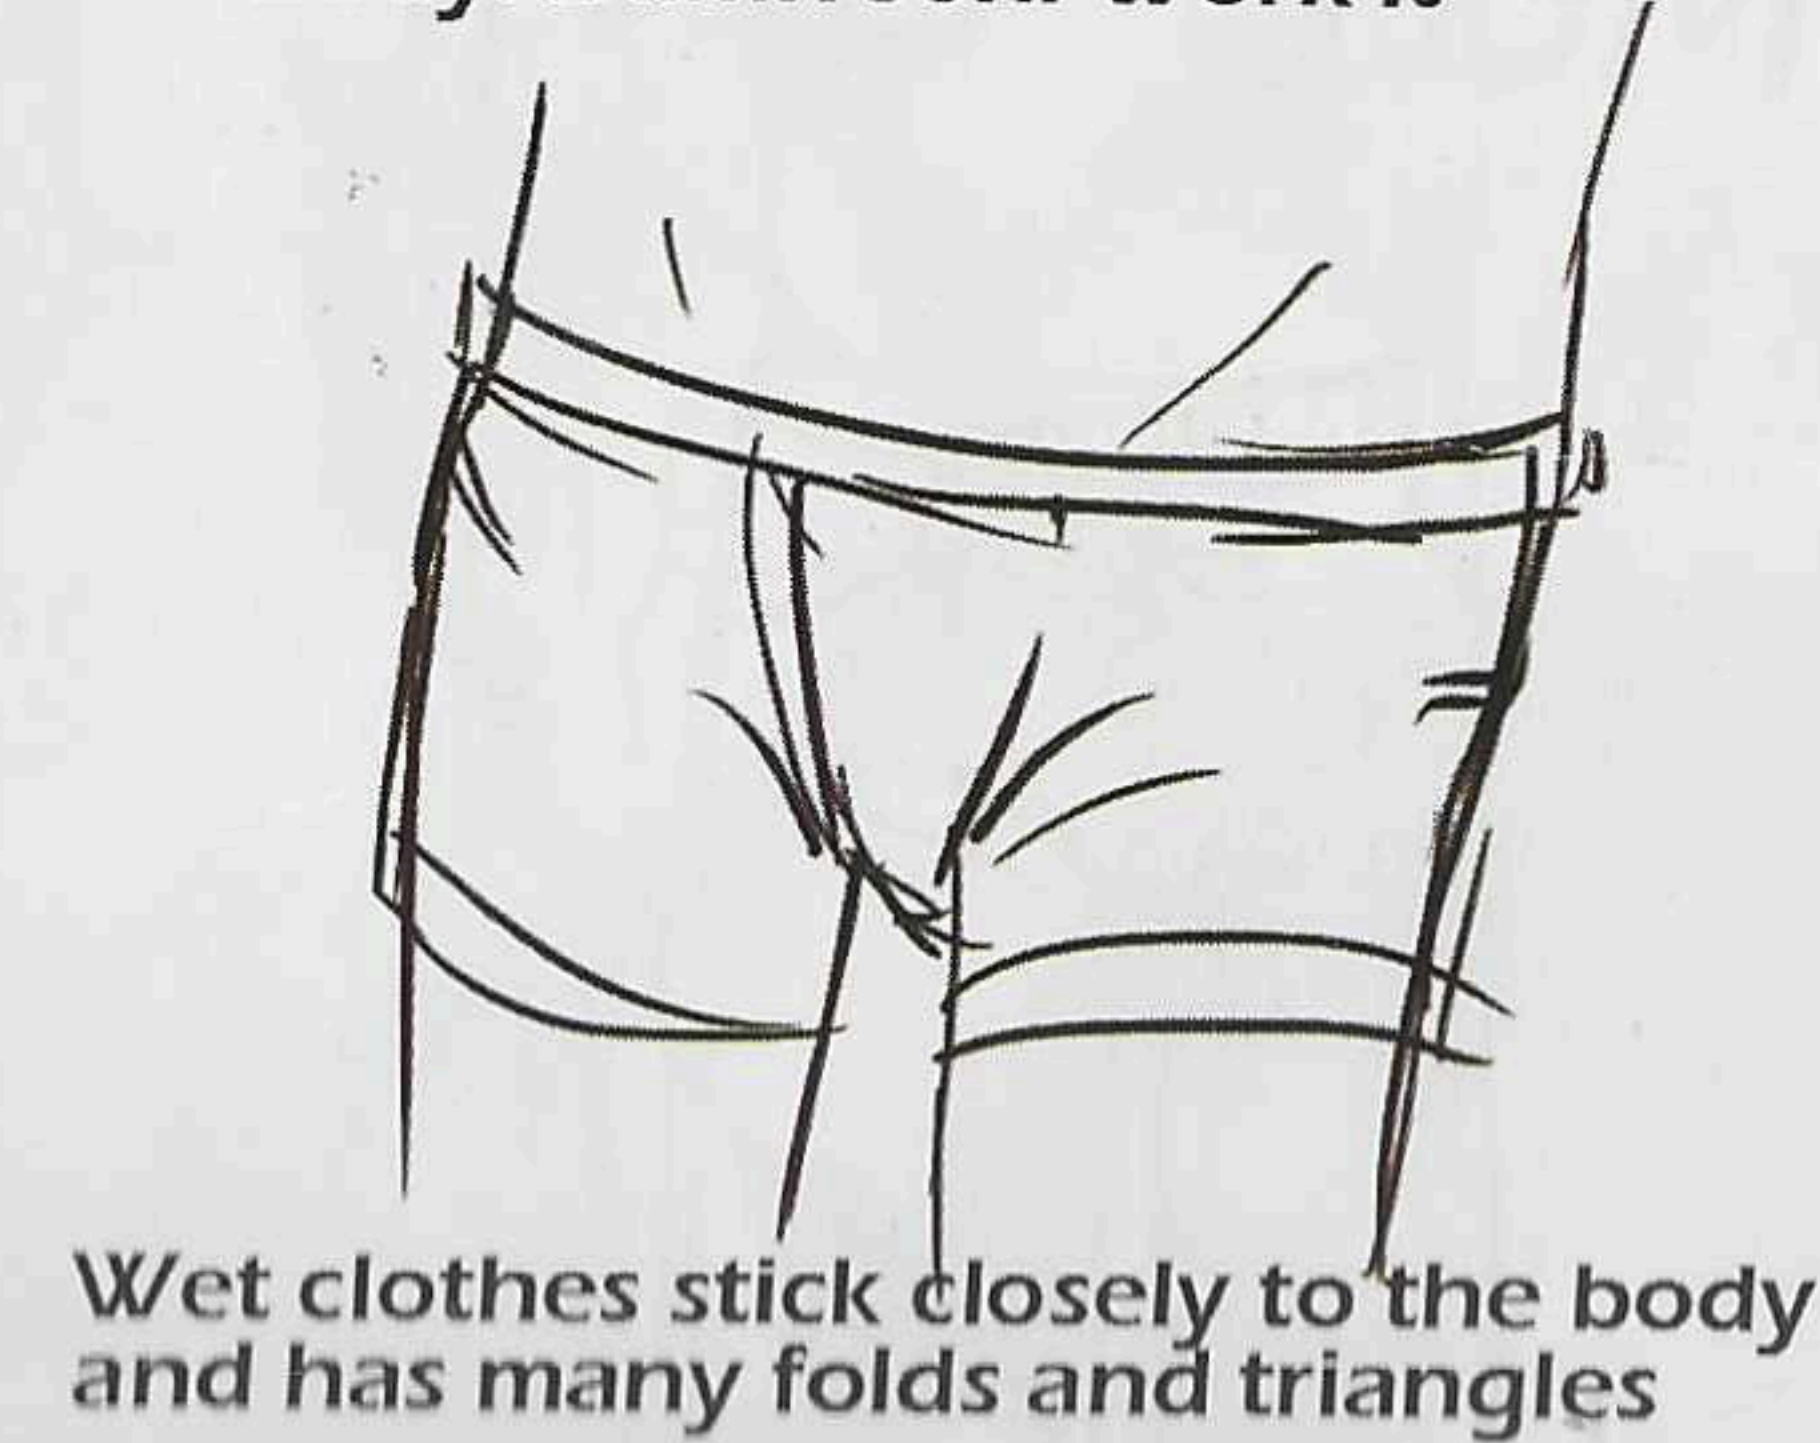

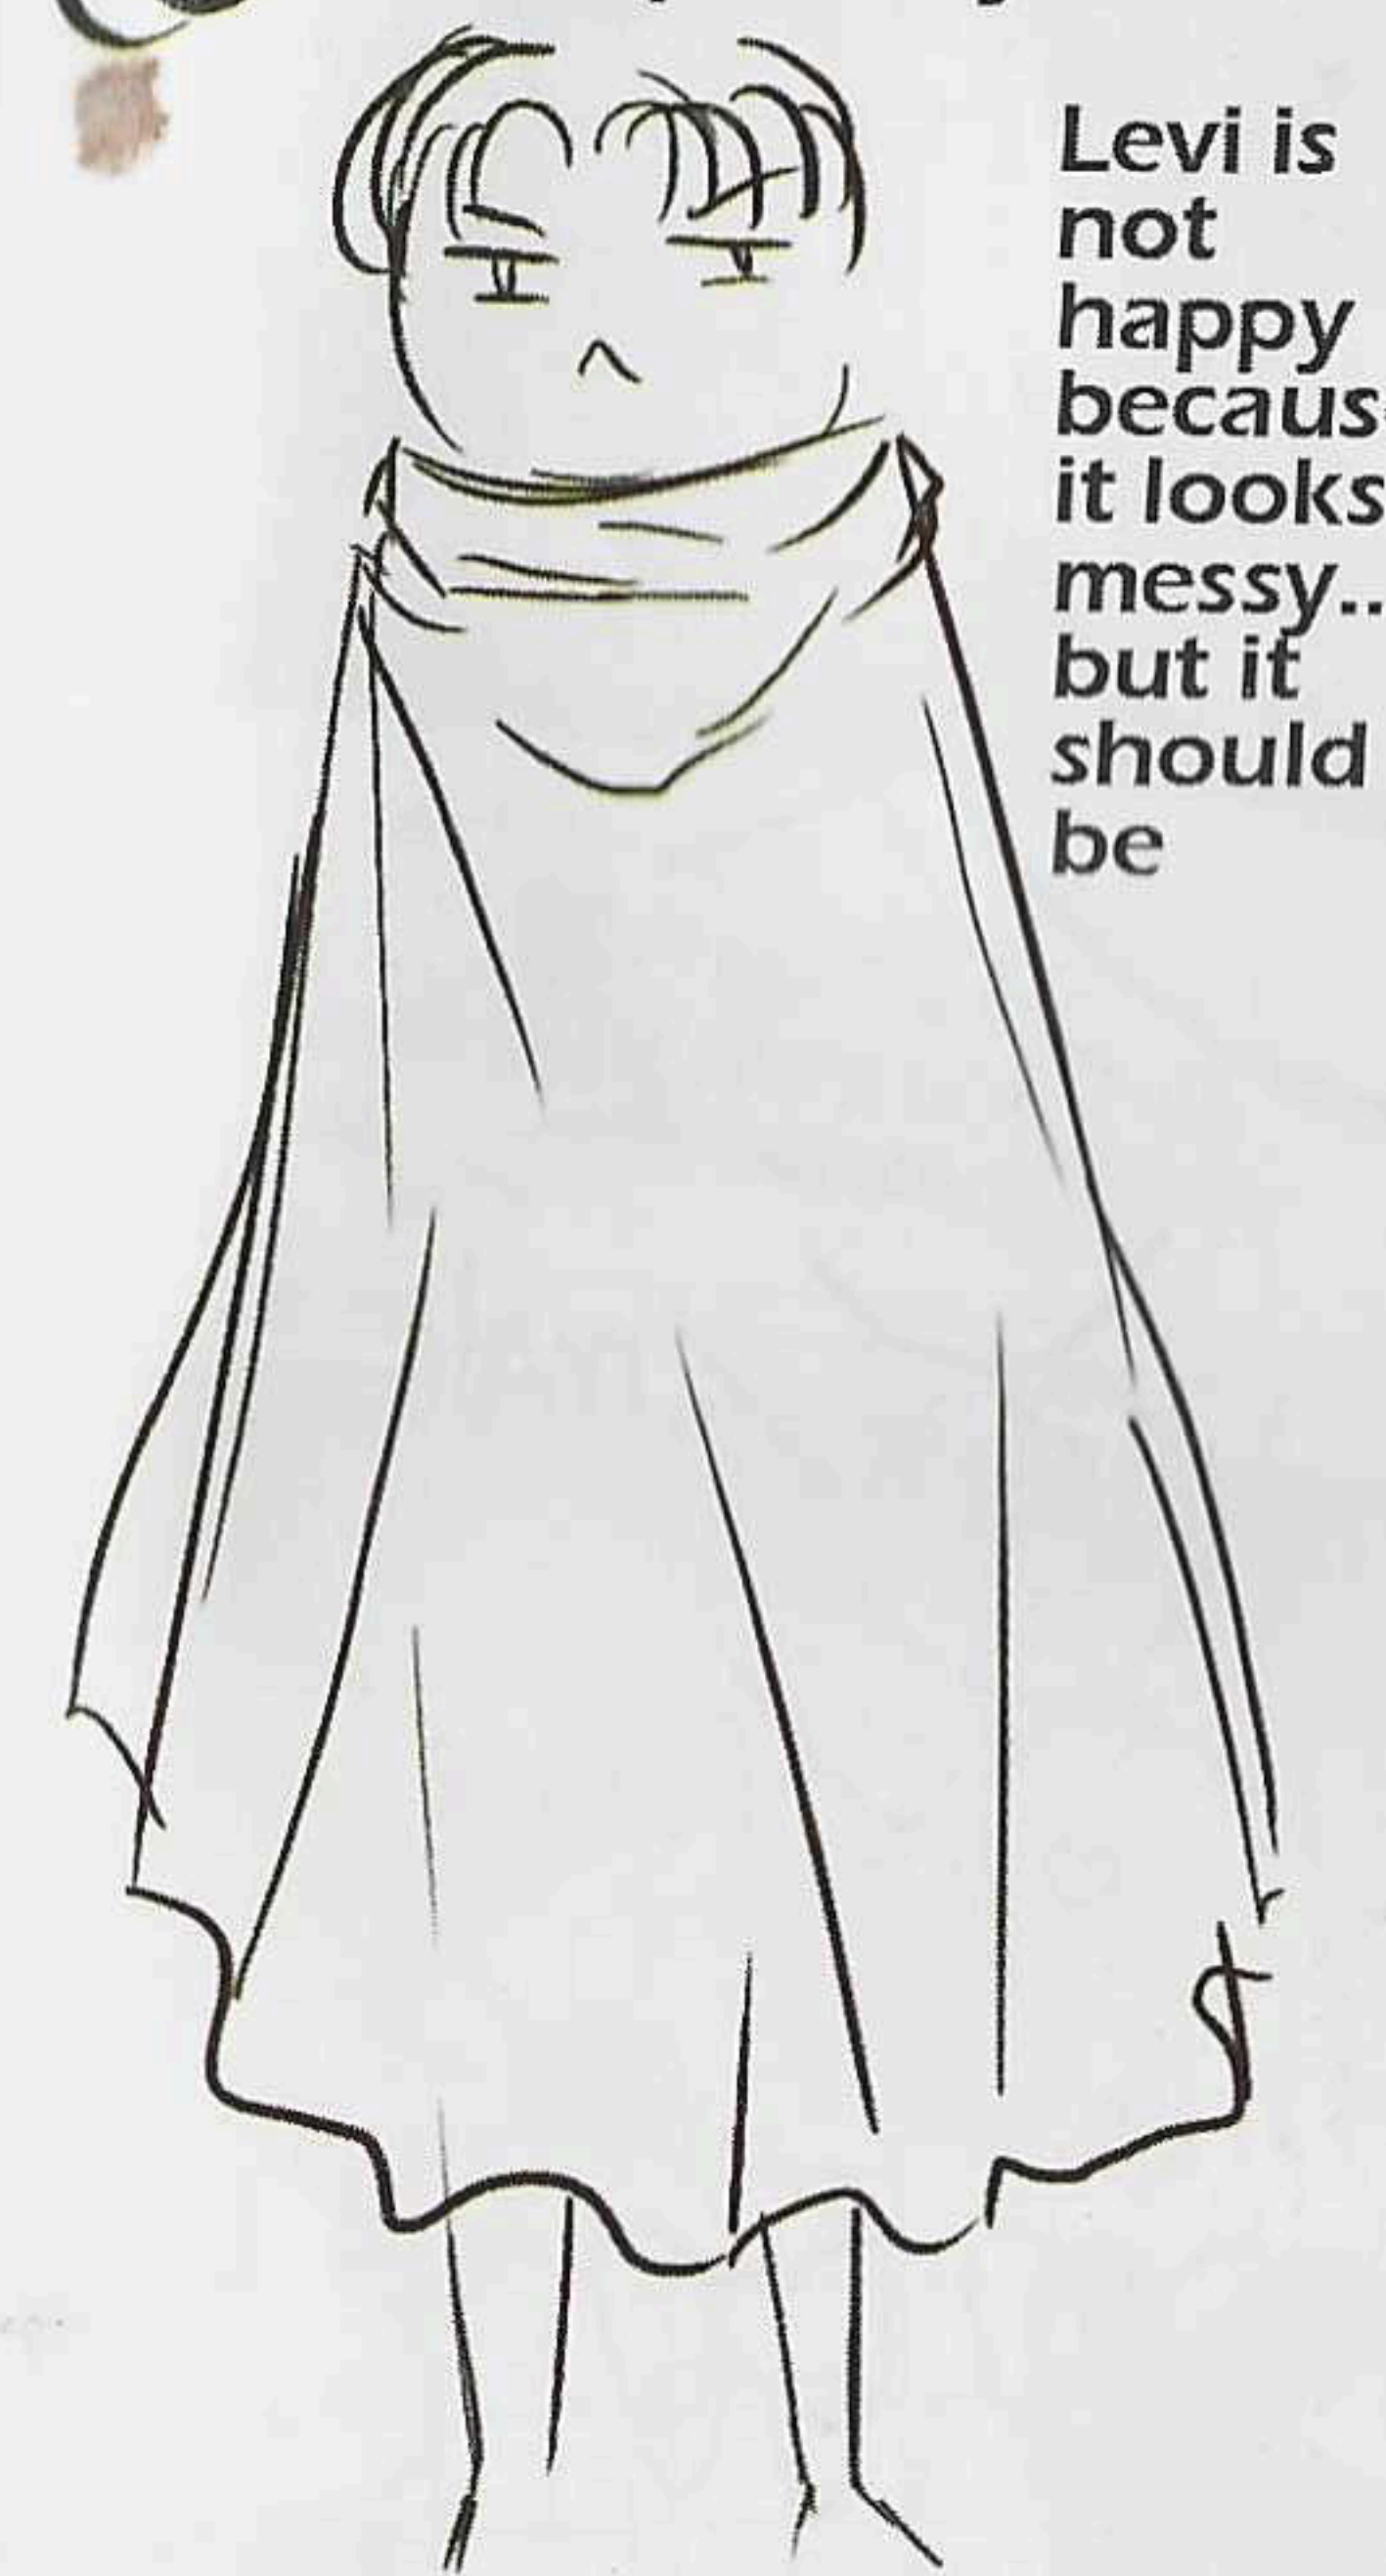

④

Light fabric flies and droops everywhere

Heavy fabric (velvet) tend to drop stiff

Tight clothes cling to the body. Damn son. Work it

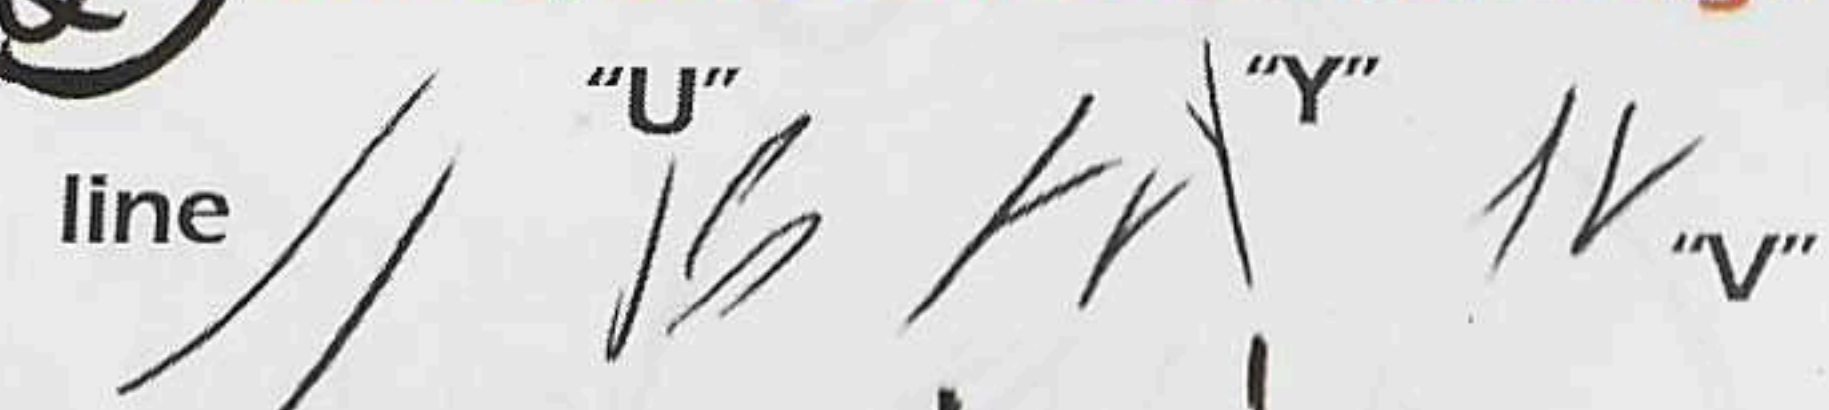

Things to Avoid!

①

Avoid parallel lines! It rarely happens and also makes the fabric look flat. Again, clothes are 3D.

②

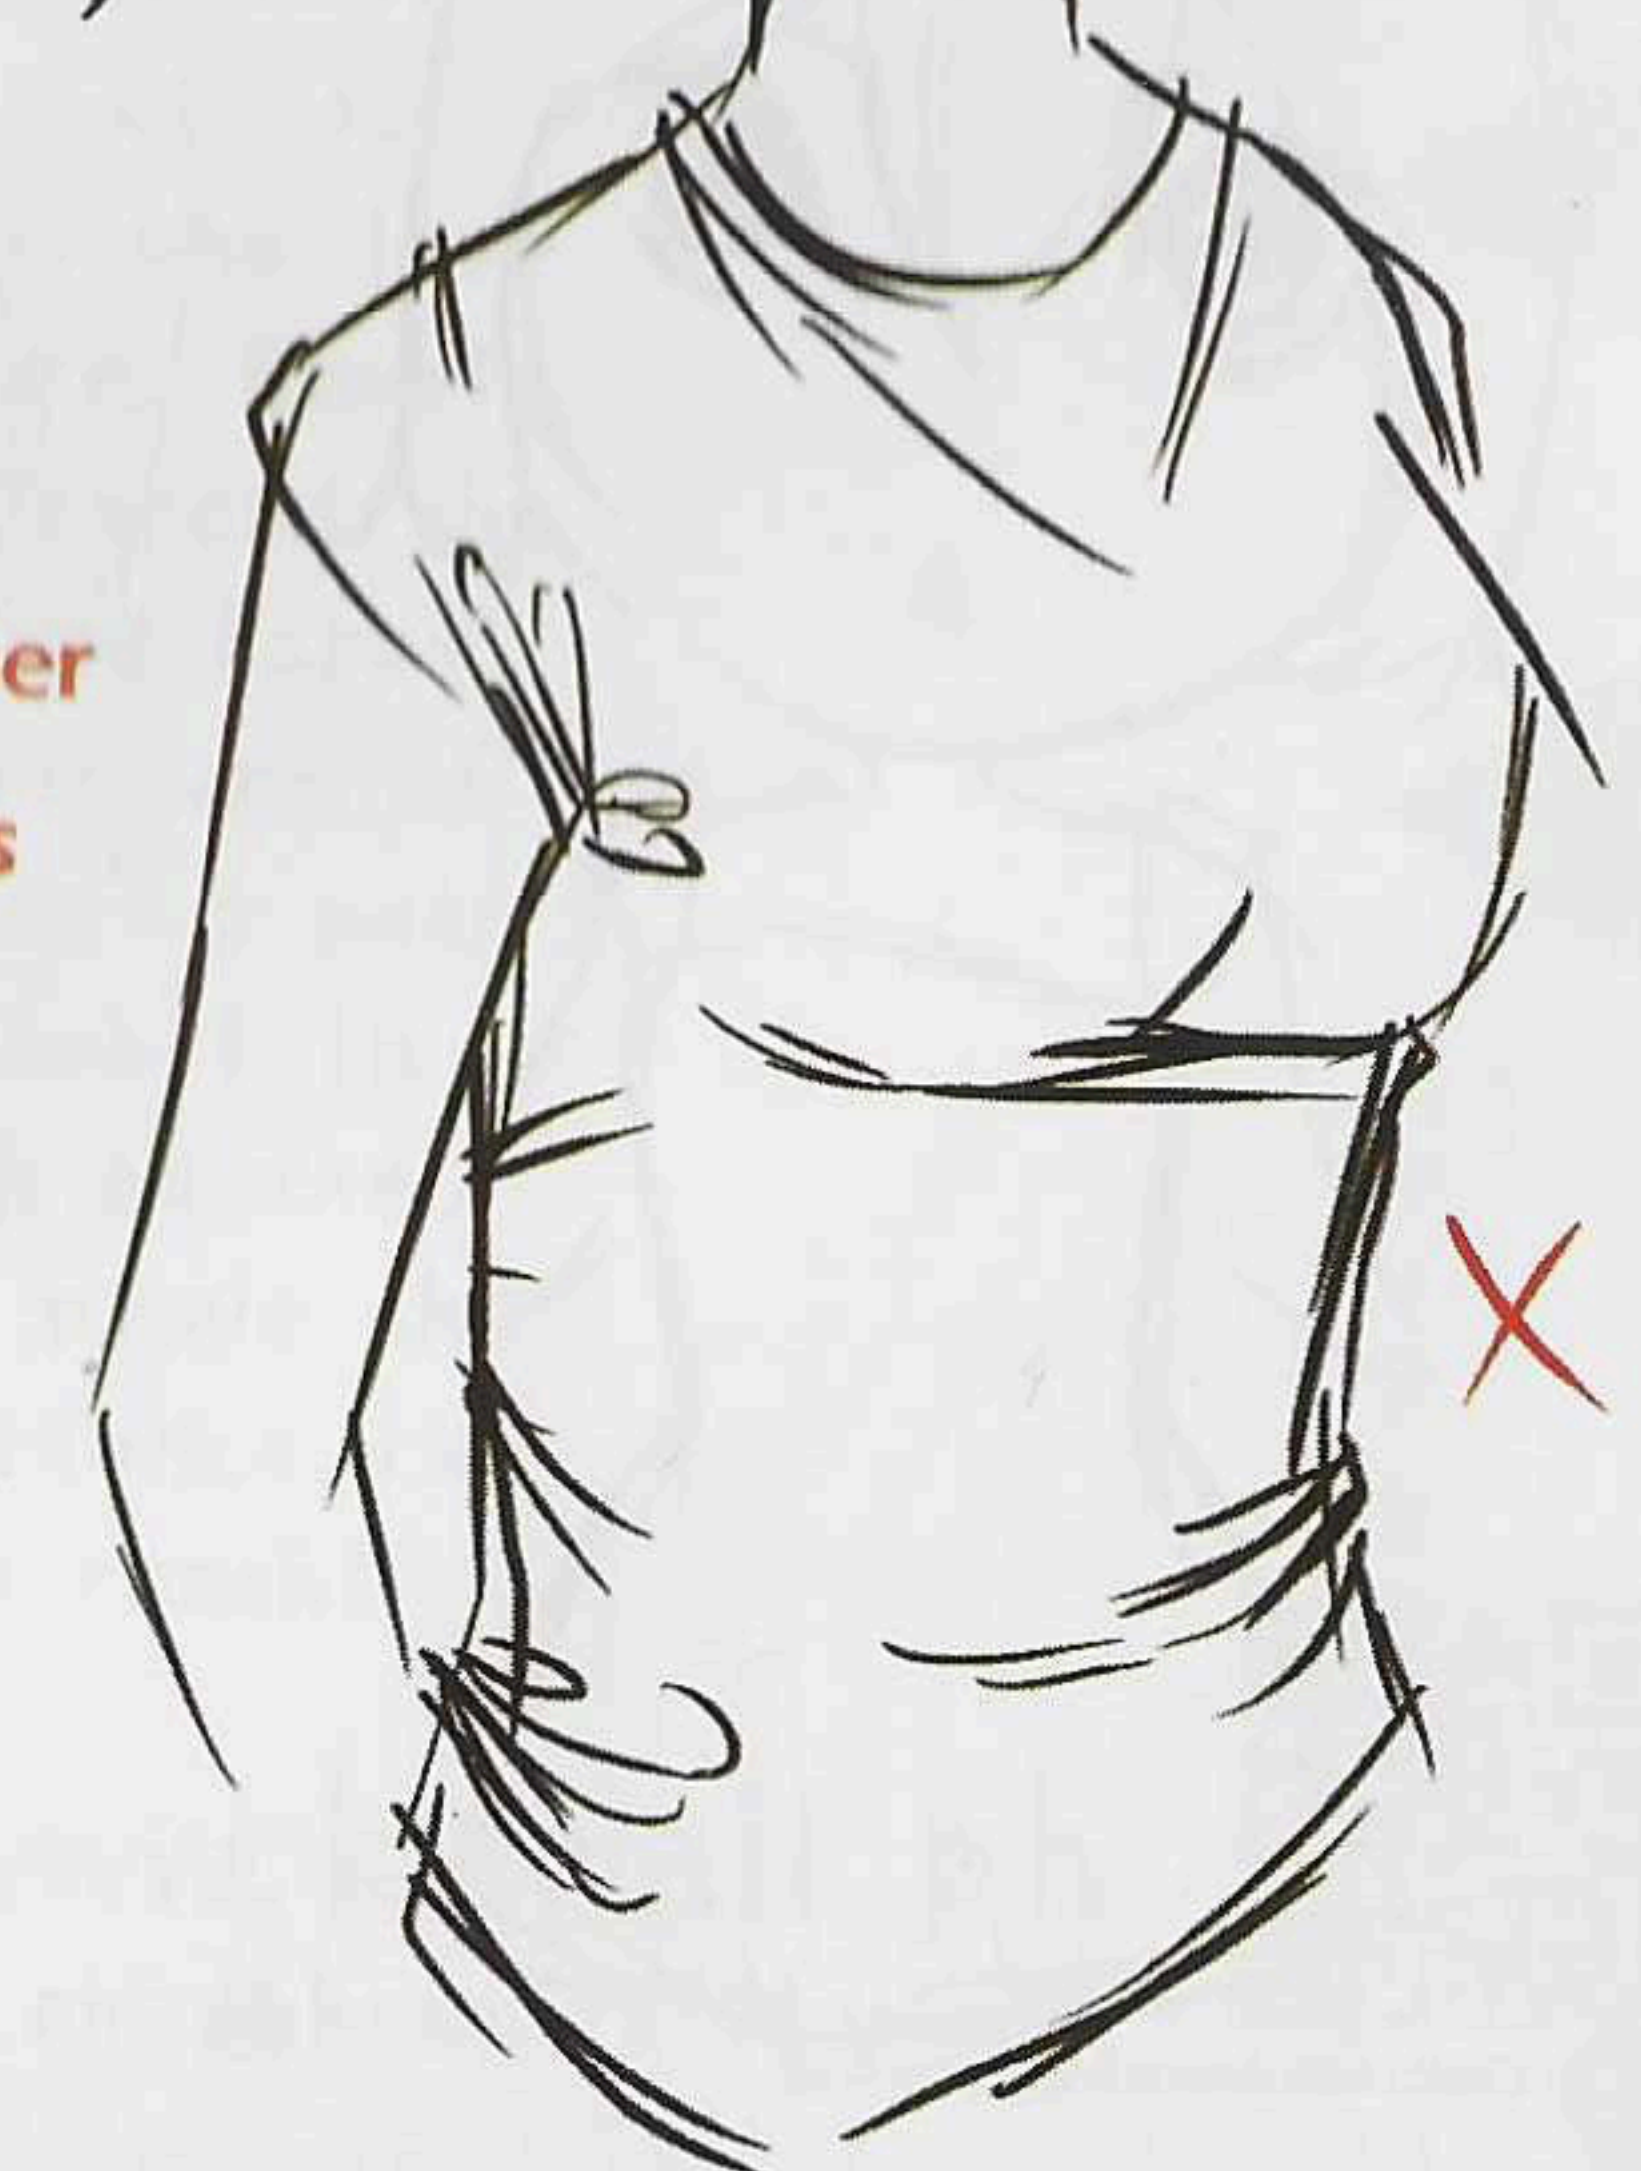

Don't repeat folds. Two lines, one U, one Y or one V is enough

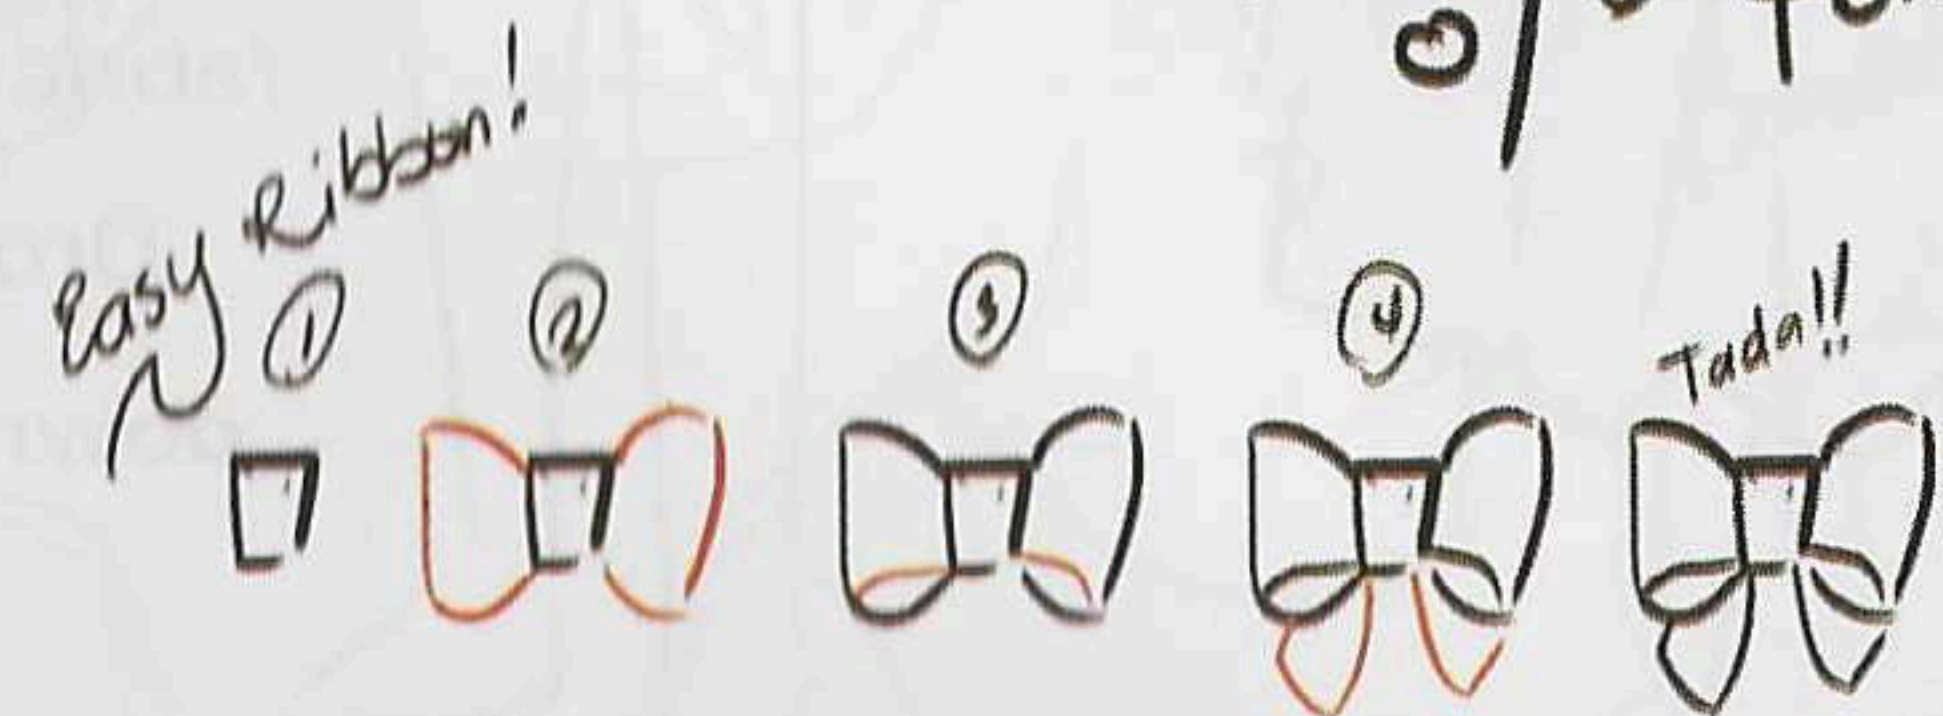

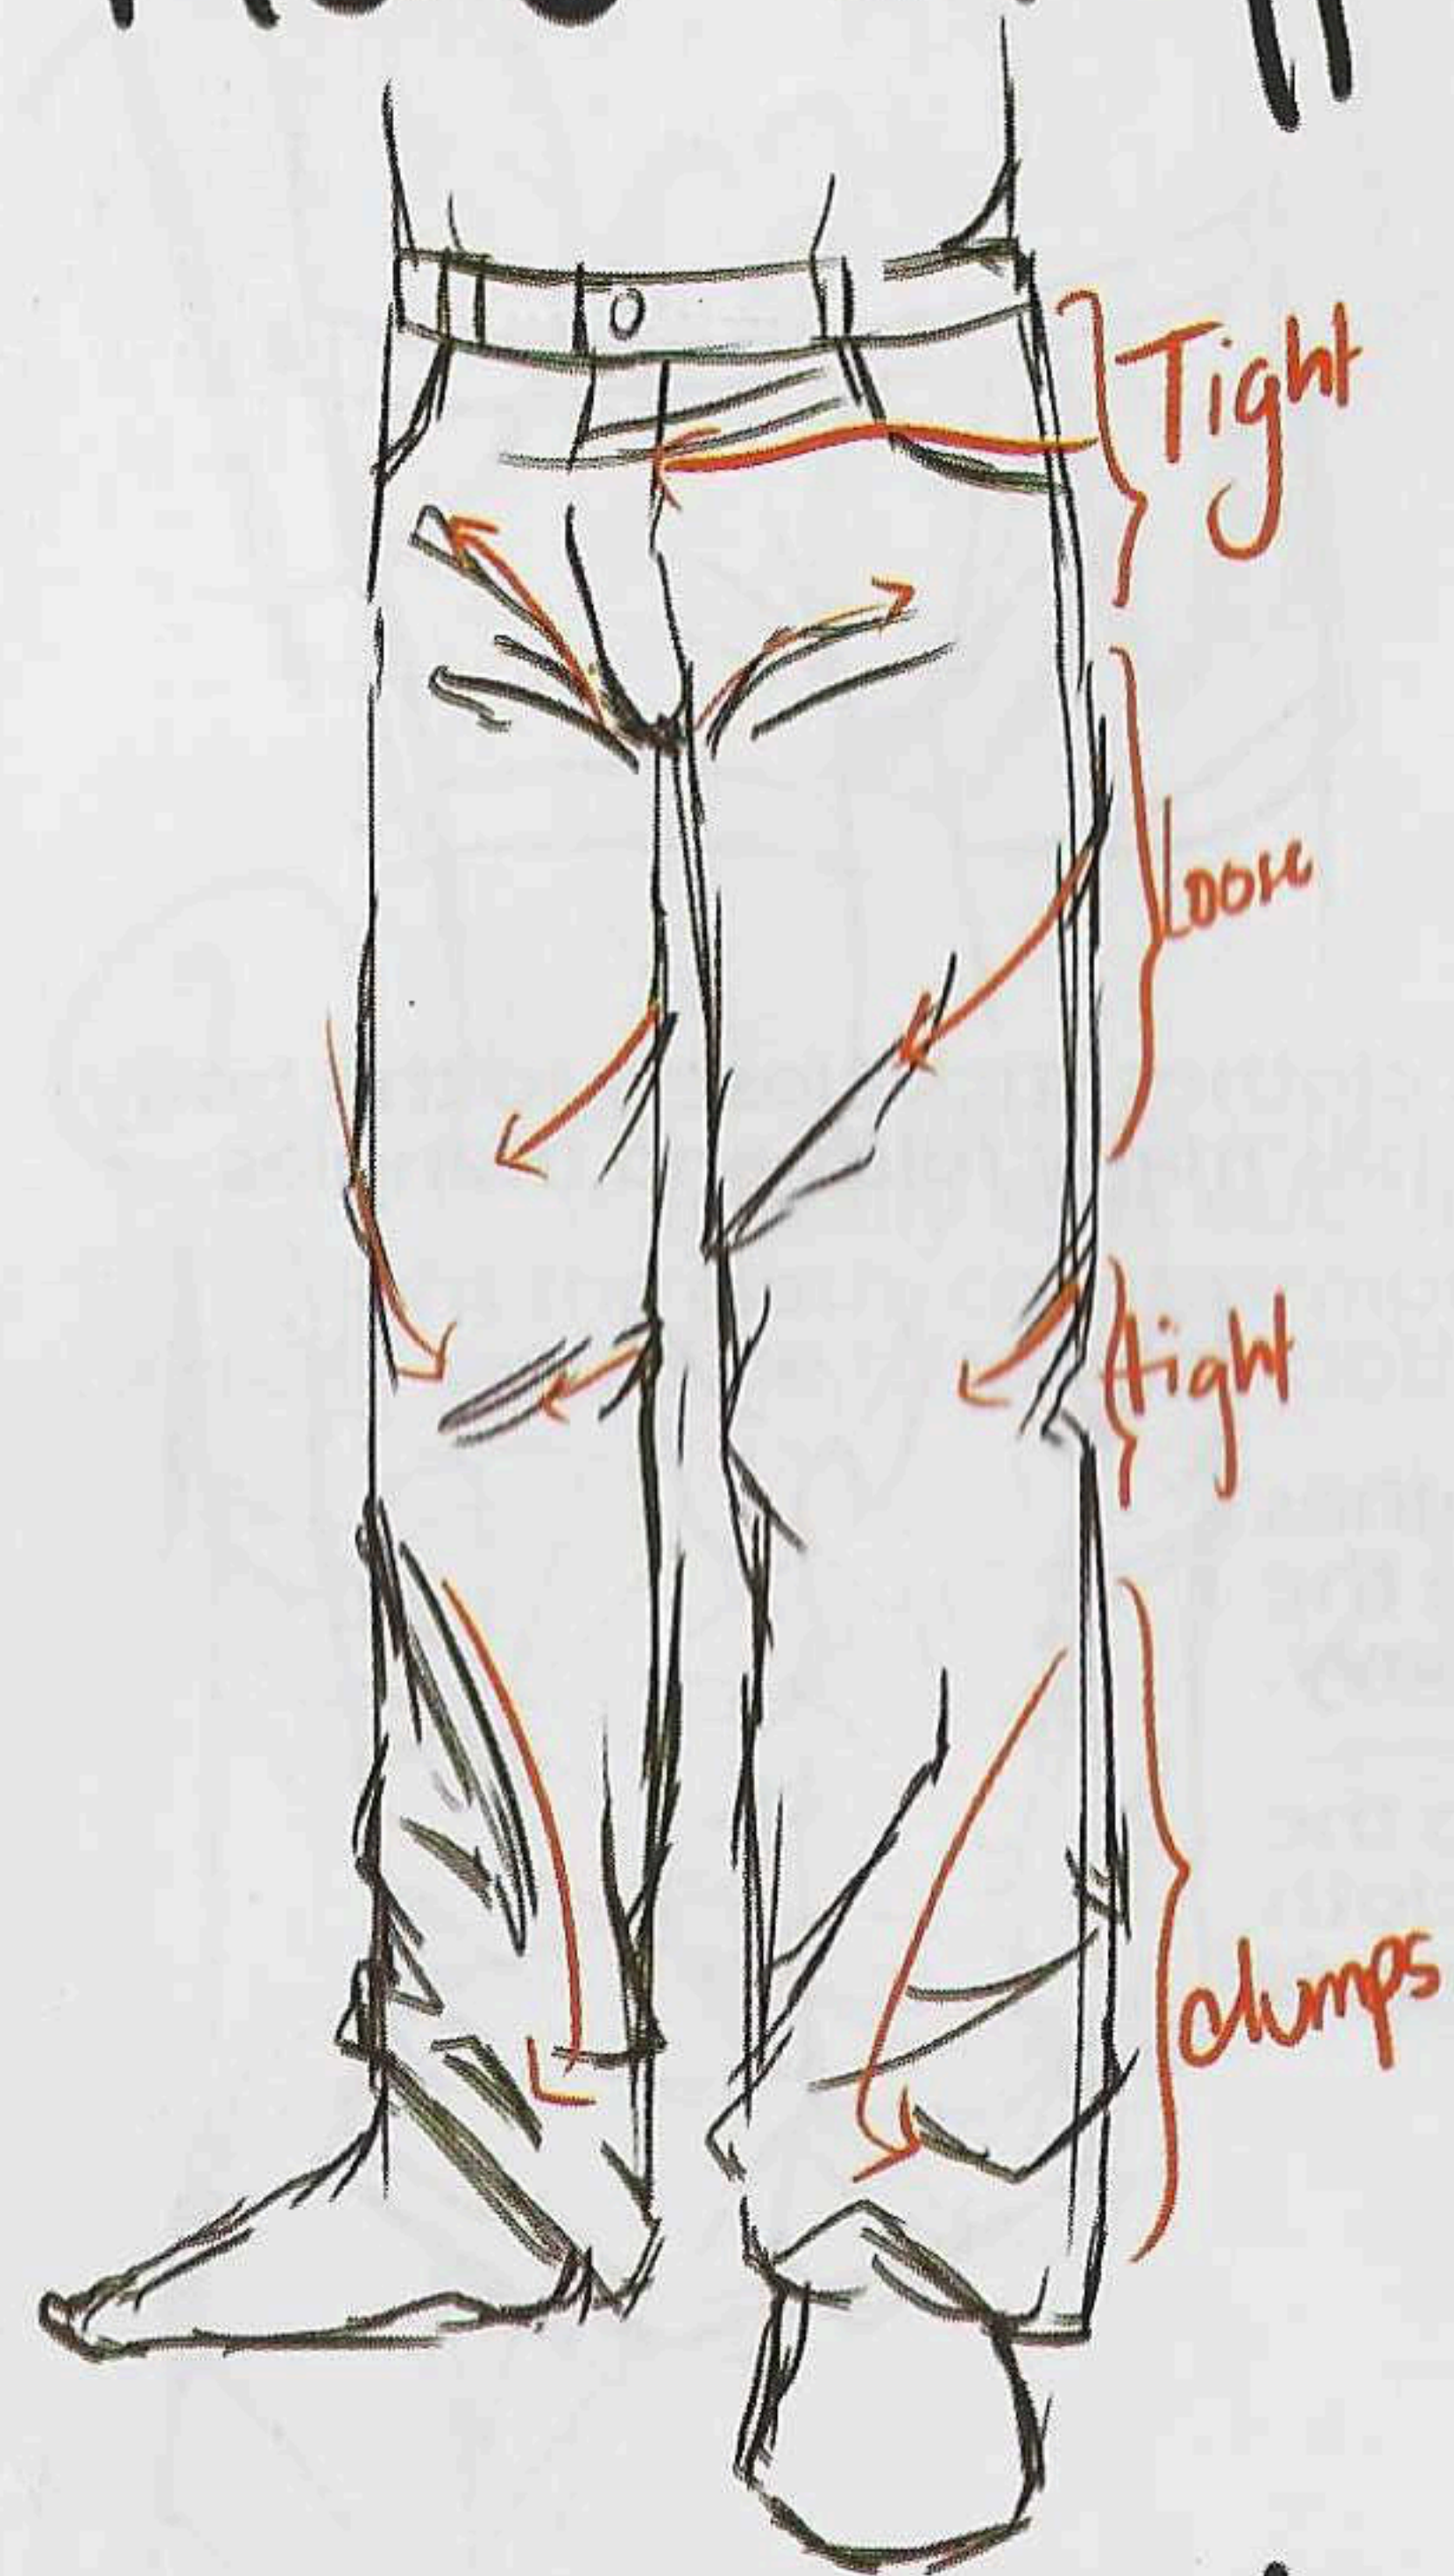

It may look OK but it's not correct. pls no

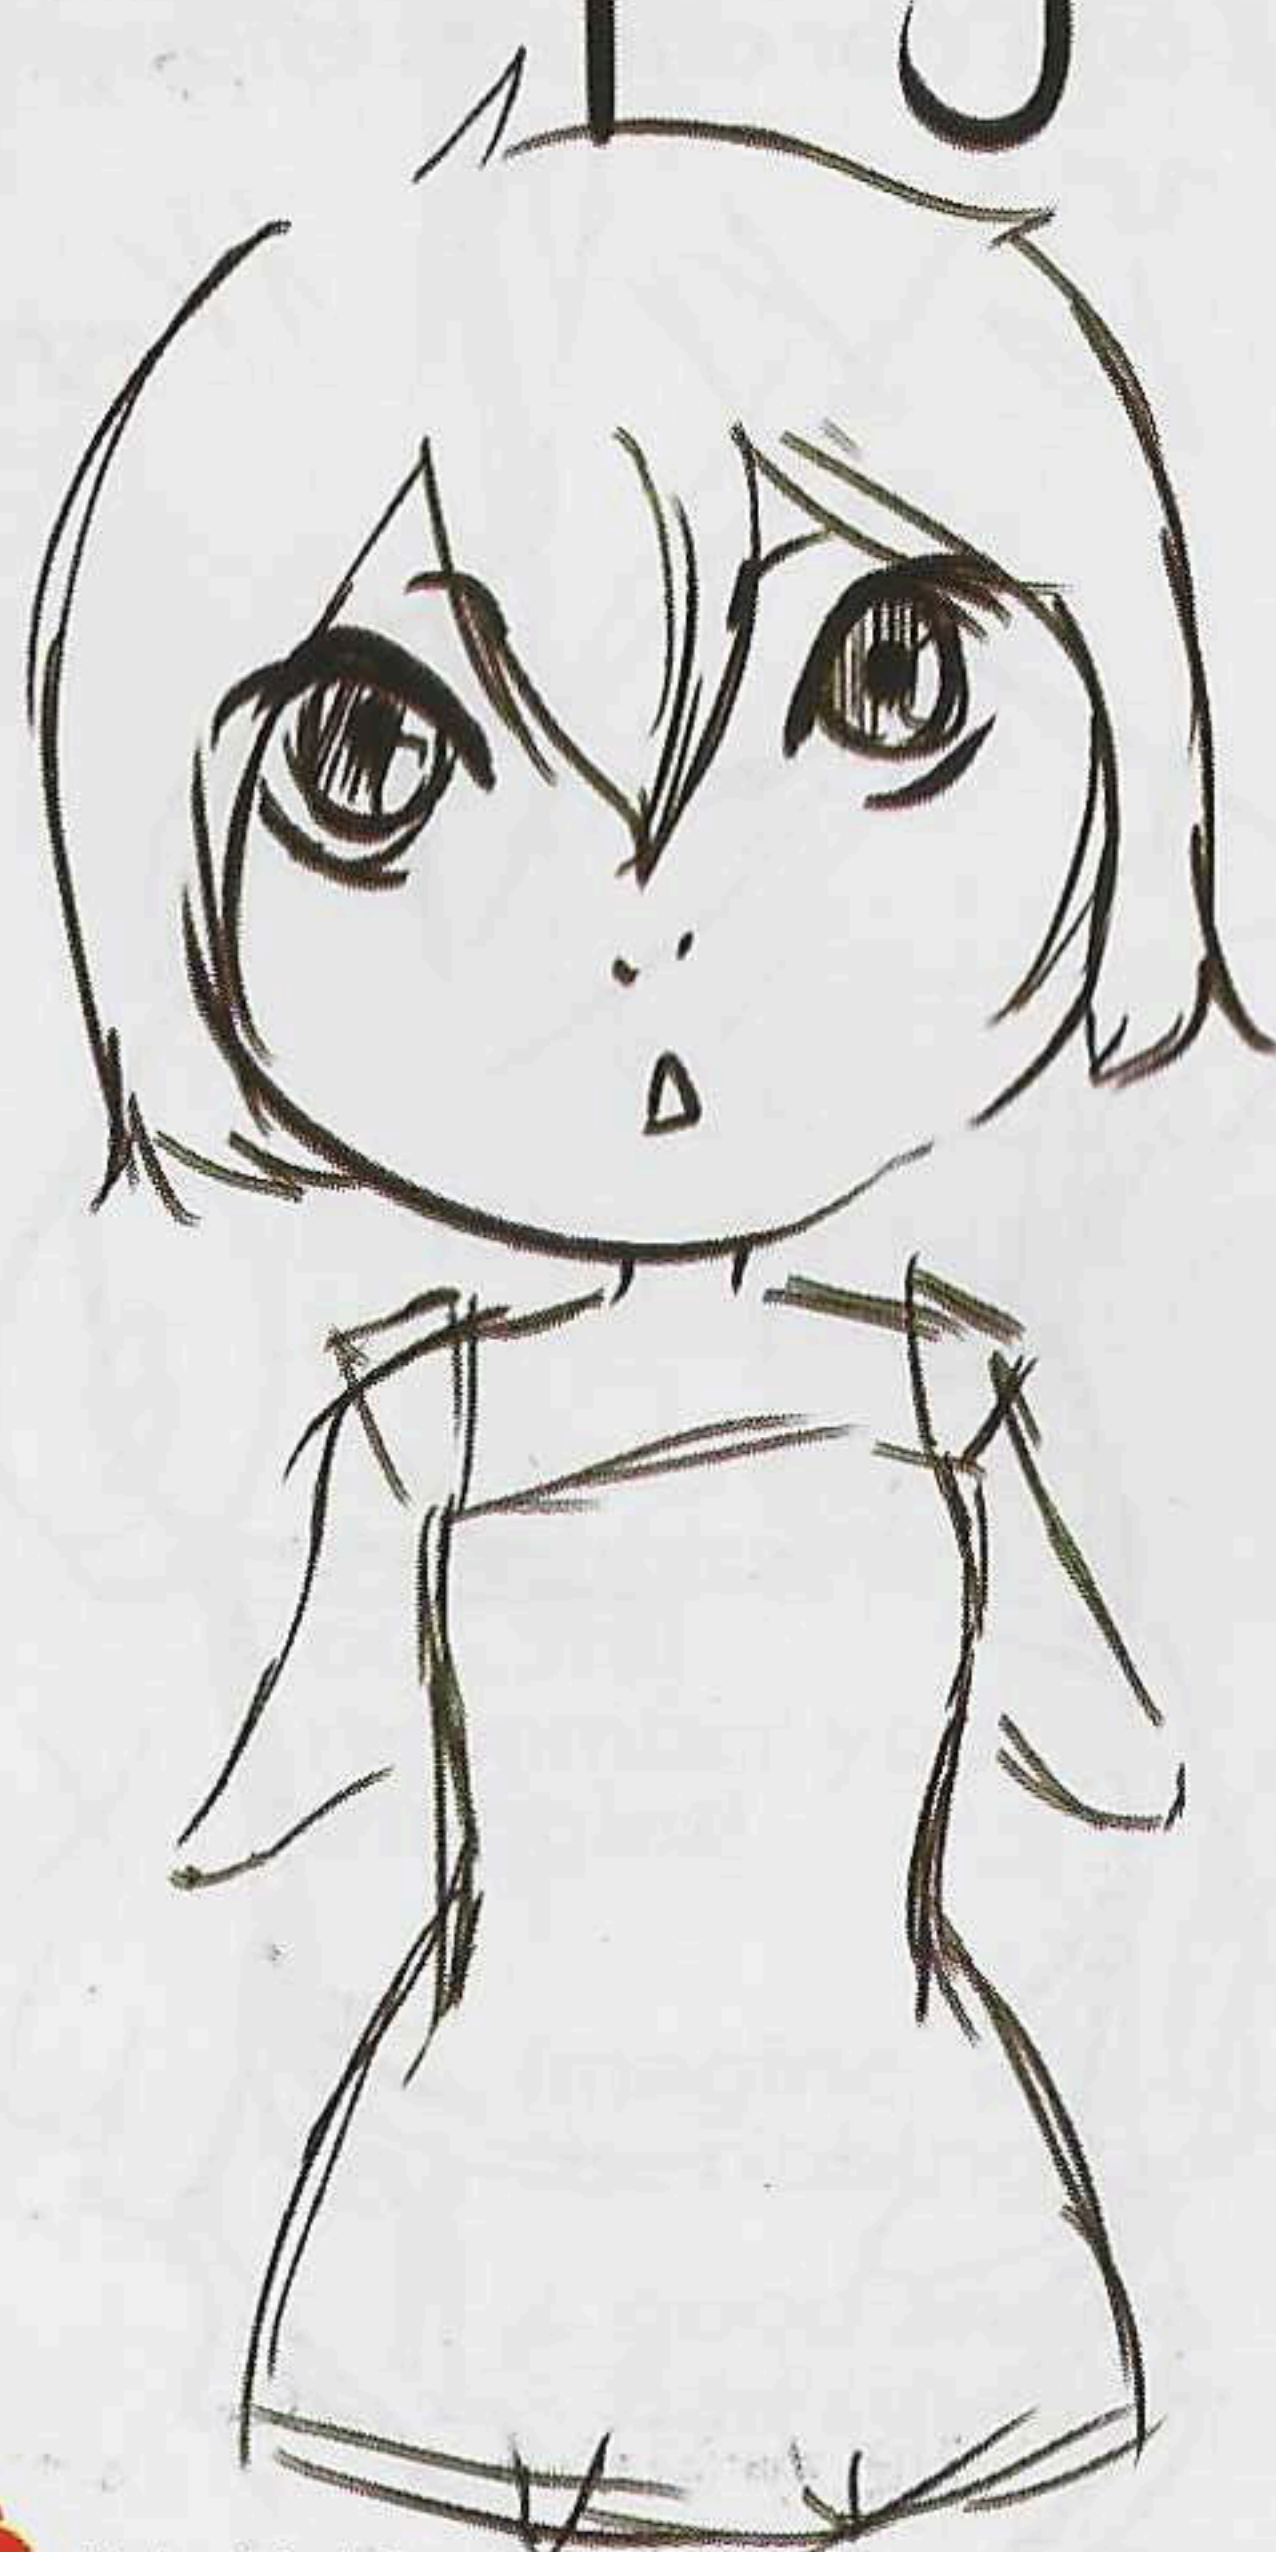

yes. remember the triangles

Step by step drawing clothes (sort of)

Konapun by Bandai

by Philip

If you are interested in cooking but your parents would not let you near the stove, then try Konapun. Be amazed at the toy food that you'll be able to create with Konapun.

Konapun is a kitchen toy set that will let you cook ultra-realistic miniature fake food. Every Konapun set includes "ingredients" to make the food and adorable little utensils and cooking implements to make your cooking feel real even though all you're doing is mixing them in water. The toy was manufactured by Bandai from 2006 to 2009. Since then, other companies have also tried to make their own versions of the toy.

This awesome toy will make you feel that you're actually cooking. Use the utensils and ingredients in the set, and mix some powders to water. Just like the doughnut, where you drop the fake doughnut into the fake oil and it will bubble as if it was really frying.

Well, there is an explanation for this magic. For this kind of items where it includes oil in cooking, the oil contains citric acid which interacts with the alginate and it forms tiny bubbles which stimulates the frying effect. The same happens in other sets like in hamburgers, tempura, spaghetti sauce and the like, where it contains different contents to show different effects, making your cooking experience seem realistic.

Bandai manufactured different Konapun sets like the Konapun Hamburger and French Fries kitchen set and supplements, Konapun Cake kitchen set, Konapun Curry Rice set, Konapun Spaghetti set and Jelly sets. There are also versions of popular characters like Rikakkuma.

Konapun is definitely interesting and fun to play but we are still waiting for it to come here in the PH.

There are rumors that it's available in a store in Greenbelt. Why don't you look for it?

Even though this toy is no longer available in stores, it is still possible to find some sets online. Just be careful to not eat this miniature food as it is not edible. Also, the toy food, just like any food, spoils and rots. If you can't find any, it is still very very fun to watch and there are videos of konapun being played and made online.

Meet the Owners!~

GWYSHOP is founded by Jaz Berina and me, Dona Berina, mother to 3 beautiful kiddos, Gwynne, Gwydion, and Gwyndel, where I derived the shop's name from.

When and what was the first convention GWY shop has participated?

- GWYSHOP's very first convention was Best of Anime 2011 which was held at SMX Mall of Asia. It was a very exhilarating event as I had absolutely no idea how cosplay events are held, let alone that I am going as an exhibitor on that event. But it turned out pretty well in the end, I learned a lot and kept memorable experiences from that event.

Location

- While GWYSHOP has no physical permanent shop at the moment, as I am a home-based entrepreneur as well as a hands-on mom, I am a staple exhibitor at Cosplay events, particularly the major ones, like Ozinefest, Cosmania and Best of Anime, just to name a few.

When and how GWY Shop started?

- Wayback 2008, GWYSHOP started as a small online variety shop which aimed to cater to women's fashion desideratum. However, I realized my passion for Anime and Cosplay and started to venture into the Cosplay Industry as an exhibitor of Cosplay fashion necessities.

first event (BOA 2011) in collaboration with Purpektion Shop

What are your difficulties as an online shop?

- My clients frequently ask where my shop is situated at, in which I can only reply that I do online transactions outside of events only as I have no physical shop at the moment.

However, I am in a continuous pursuit of a suitable location to entertain those who fail to attend cosplay conventions and still want to avail my products.

Do you offer discounts and promos on your products? If yes, when?

- Special promos are often held on special dates like my shop's anniversary, holidays, and even my kid's birthdays.

Where does your services and merchandise range from?

- As a cosplay fashion variety shop, I have miscellany of items like Cosplay cosmetic lenses, Cosplay fashion wigs, imported cosmetics and vanity accessories. I am also affiliated with ILOVETODYE, an online shop that merchandises hair dye, as well as COTTON CANDY SHIRTS, which sells fandom shirts.

As of now, do you think how many customers GWY shop has served?

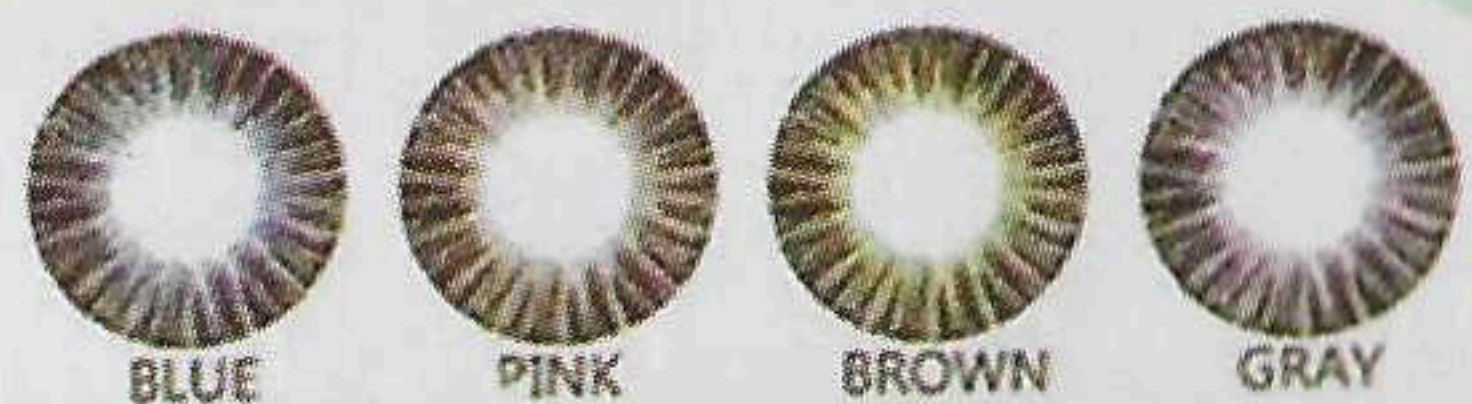

- I really cannot give you the exact numbers, I would estimate it to be around 10,000 or more. I am only calculating this presumption based on the number of waybills (shipper's tracking number) that I have sent to my clients. And there are those clients who attend the convention.

Do you have any specific new items that consumers that look forward into?

I always have new items being a variety store, and as a matter of fact, I am in the process of launching a new line of cosmetic lens brand. The deal is in still in process so I cannot give any information about it, but I assure you that this will be a new line of designs that will excite everyone.

PINOY OTAKU FESTIVAL FANTASM — COSPLAY LIVES — STARMALL ALABANG

Last May 24-25, Pinoy Otaku Festival brought the world of Code Geass to reality as they made a cosplay event aiming to be a "Live Roleplay-event". The title of the event, FANTASM means a creation of the imagination or fancy, taken from the word itself, fantasy.

The organizers urged everyone to "be as close to your character as possible for the entirety of the event." This plea however, was not followed by most people and Starmall itself. Nevertheless, the show went on and the Britannians enjoyed.

To enter, one must bring a notebook and one school supply to help Naruto Cosplayer PH (NCPH) in their Balik Eskwela Project. They also issued a Britannian ID to the VIPs. Participants are either identified as Elevens, Honorary Britannian, Britannian and others (for VIP) Britannian Royalty in response to the theme.

Fantasm covered events such as Cosplay Idol S2 Finals, Otaku Choice Awards, Asia Music Festival Karaoke and Bandslam, Bolen Lareza Cosplay Competition, which is the first separate competition for chibi cosplayers in the Philippines. Fantasm Cosplay Live is the first cosplay competition which aims to recognize "realism" in their cosplay characters, Cosplay Checkers where you can see cosplayers used as checkers pieces playing on a board that was conducted during its second day.

Live bands and dance shows also performed. To name a few, Ikuzolwa, Happy Ending, Hiyas, Strange Orange, School Milk for a Dime and Kung Fu Day, Raindrop, V's Project, Kryzia Camille Santiago, Seiza, Tarlac Asian Dancers and performers from Anime Cosplay Empire.

Hero TV also conducted the event "HERO Dub It Out". This is a free dubbers' workshop for everyone during the first day.

Several of the participants resented the venue for its size and humidity. Still, people gathered around the stage to watch chibi Elsa perform the song, Let It Go and other events. Some of booths present were also full of people watching the last episode of Nisekoi and play UP OMAKE's ring-toss game.

Pinoy Otaku Festival aims to help people while enriching the hearts of every Filipino otaku through their unique events. They always conduct otaku festivals for a cause like the recent years, where in 2013 they've conducted the PINOY OTAKU FESTIVAL PINOY SUPER HEROES ARISE! to awaken Filipino's bayanihan traits.

Pinoy Otaku Festival has done a great and memorable event again for this year. Sharing time with them is really fun. To those who didn't come to FANTASM, don't worry, because NCPH is planning more activities and events for next year.

Visit their website <http://pof.narutocosplayers.com/index.php> for more details of the event.

EY MACARENA

Name:
Katkot Yjares

Year started:
Around 2008?

Role:
I just consider myself a hobbyist illustrator i suppose

Base:
Manila, PH

Inspired by:
Friends and pretty much anime.

Career highlight:
yeah, i don't really have any considering I don't have a 'career' in art yet. But I am proud of the fact that I'm able to take on $50-$100 per piece commissions at this point. Atm, I only do freelance when it comes to art. No professional job to speak of yet~

.What genre of comics do you usually prefer to draw?
I love doing comedies and fantasy/action!

.Have you thought of selling your designs?
Adoptables are character designs that I make and people would buy the design or "adopt" it.

.What's the most popular comic you've drawn?
No doubt my Adventure Time genderbent fancomic. My watchers are crazy over that – almost to the point where they threaten me due to irregularities and delays in updates. ahahah...hah... :|

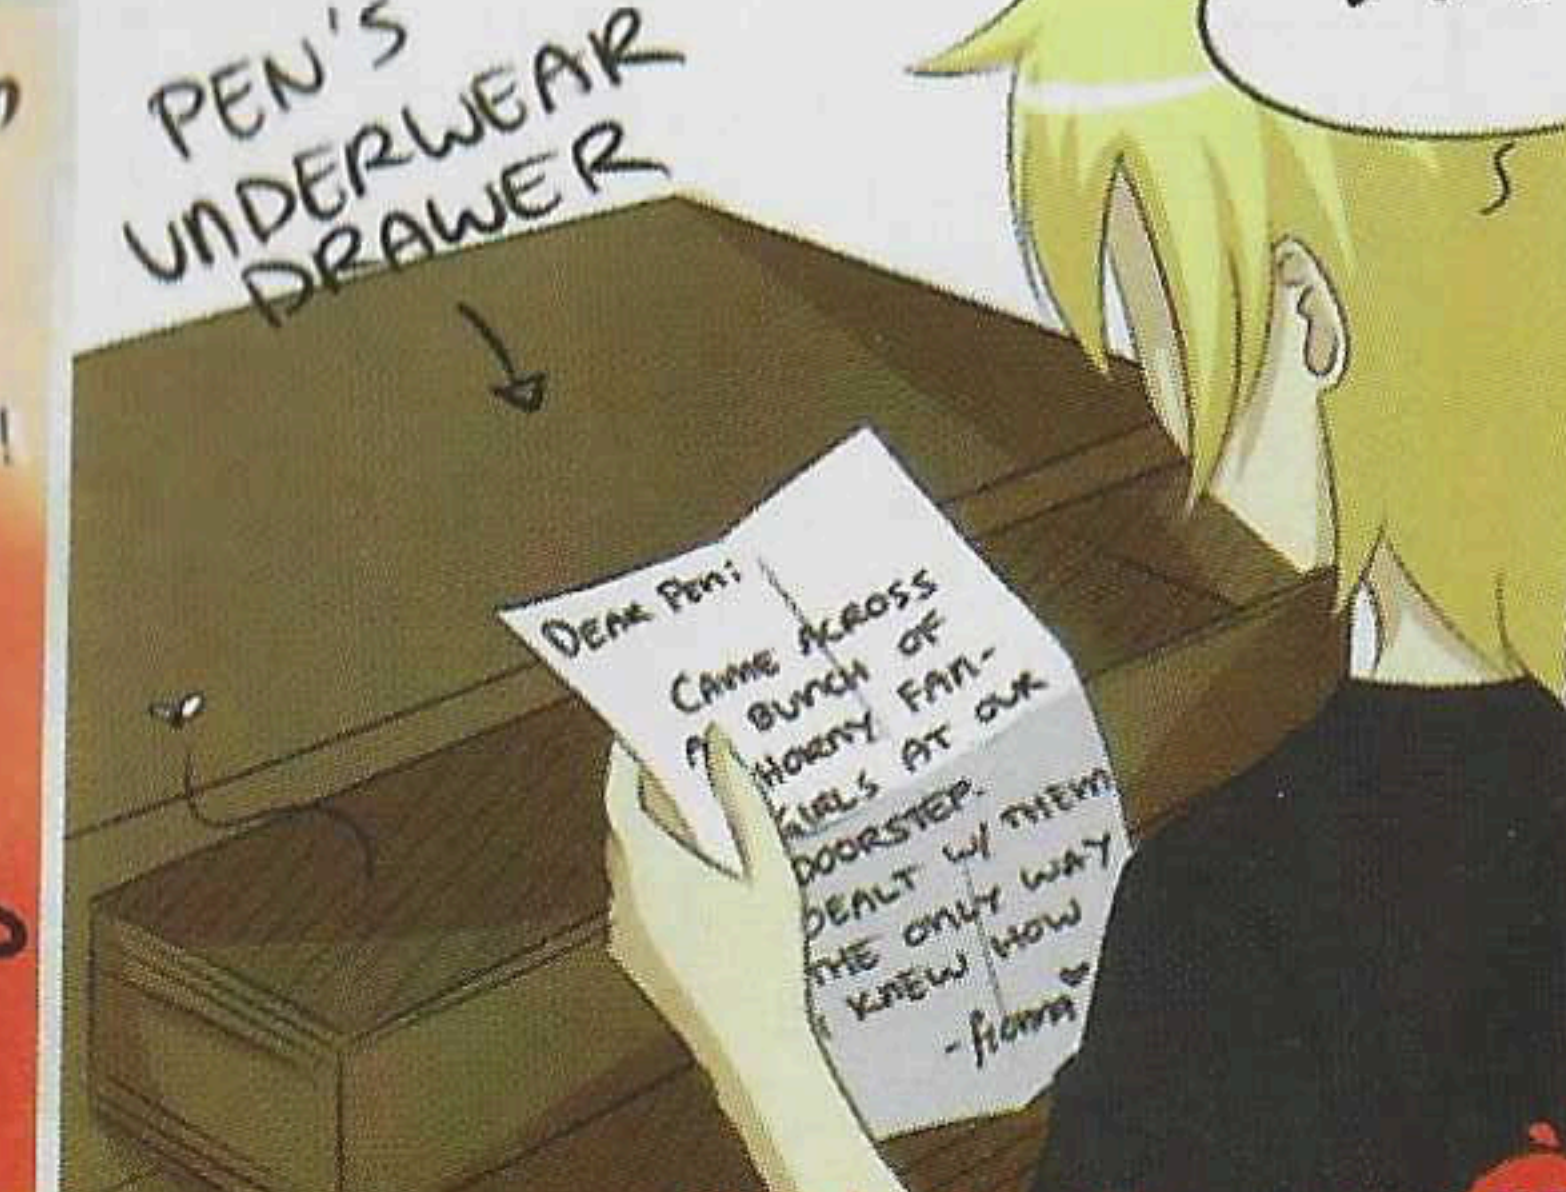

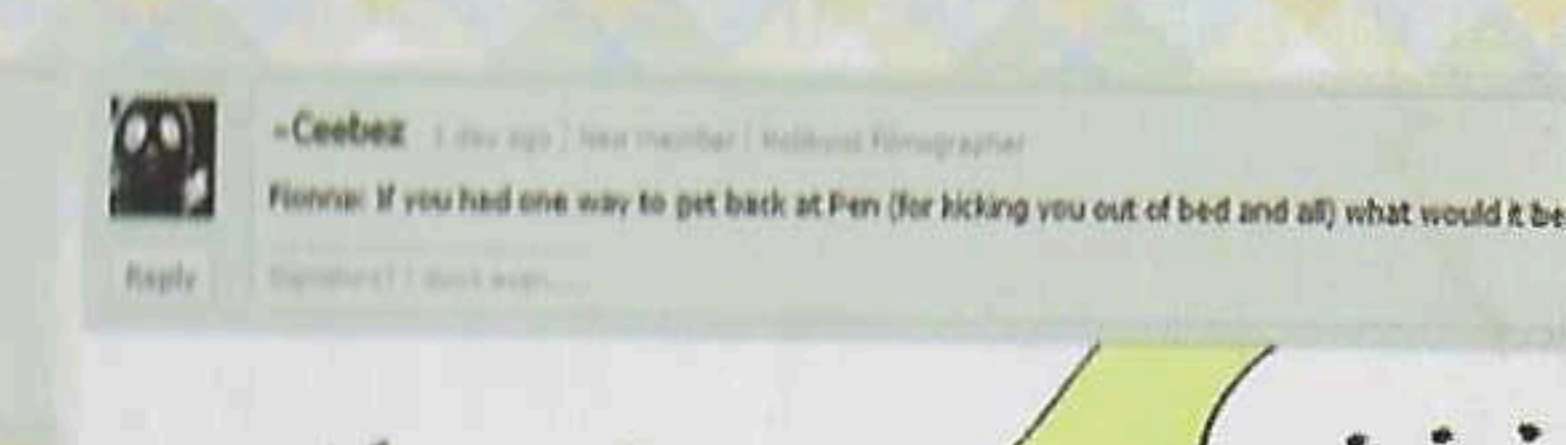

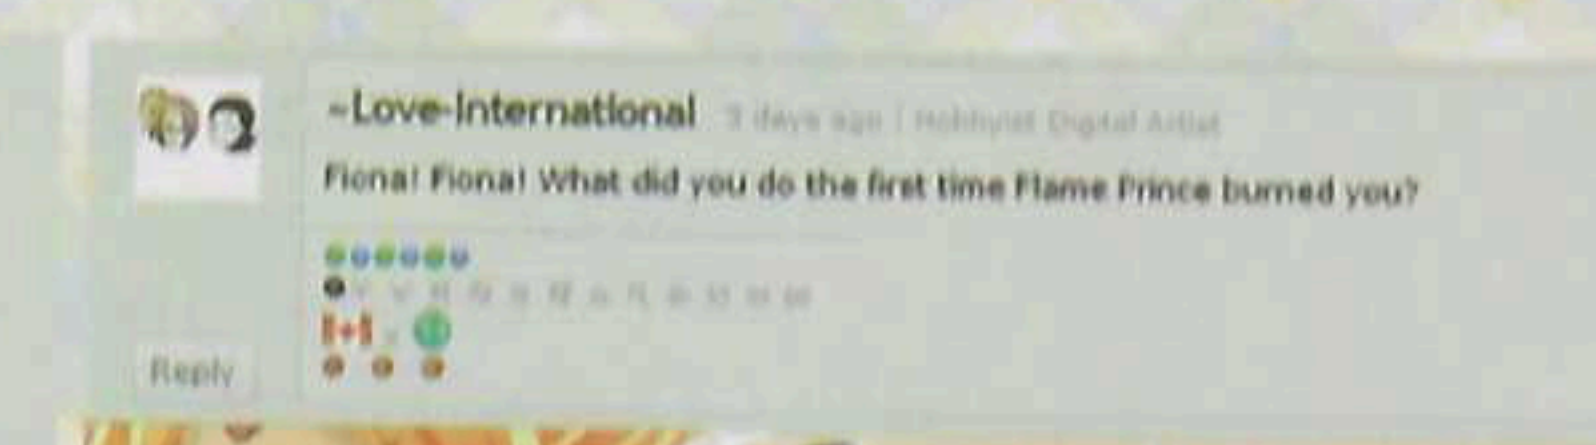

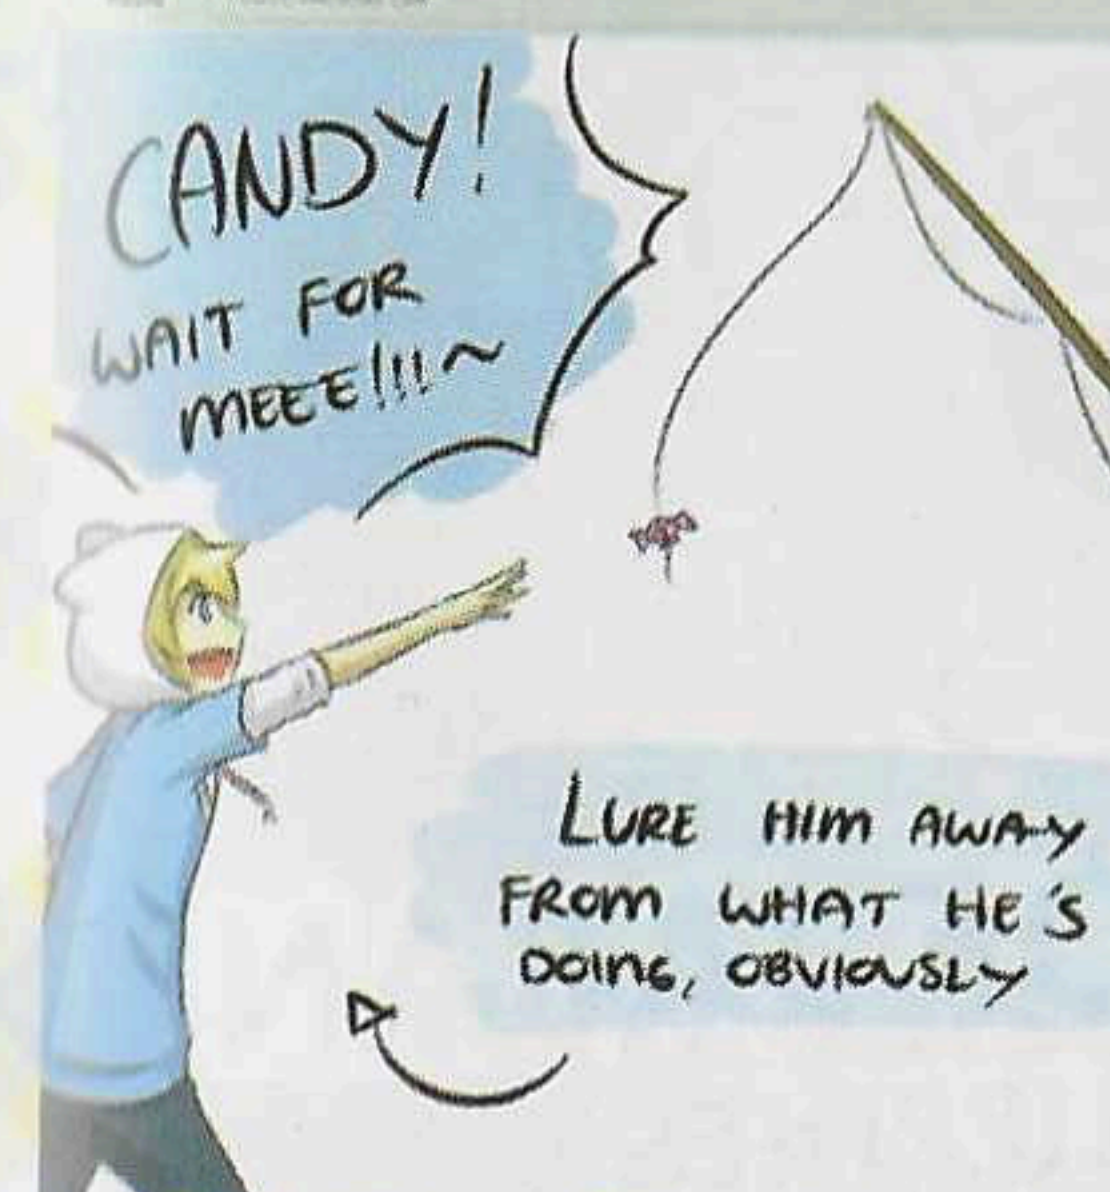

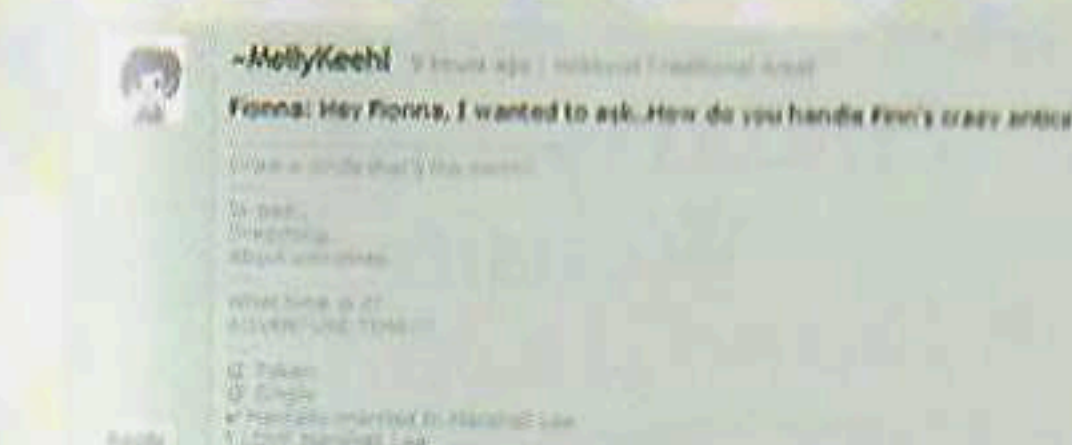

.Does this hobby affect your time for studying?
Nah, of course I always prioritize my studies. Sometimes I even take month-long breaks in case there's school-related activities that absolutely demands my attention.

.What inspired to draw and be an artist?
Well like I mentioned above, it all started with my friends. They were the first ones to push me towards becoming an artist, even though at that time, I admittedly didn't have much of an interest in art haha. From there, they got me to watch all these anime shows that pretty much influenced the way I currently draw.

.Do you have other hobbies beside from drawing?
Sure! At the moment, I spend most of my freetime doing 3D models on Maya and making animations. Well, it's a school thing tbh, but I do find working on 3D really fun xD

.Do you feel relaxed or inspired if a fan sends you a fanart or interacts with you?
Well, more excited than relaxed haha. I appreciate their efforts and the fact that they even bothered talking to me. And I'm just speechless when I find someone actually drew fanart for me, like, I cannot even– If I could, I would hug them right then and there and never let go lmaoo

.Any friendly advice to those who wants to walk on your footsteps as an artist?
My best advice: Look for a better role model than me. LOL jk, but in all honesty, try and go look for the art style/artist you like best. STUDY and OBSERVE what exactly you like about their art. LEARN why things are how they look, and PRACTICE, PRACTICE, and – I cannot emphasize this enough – PRACTICE. You'll never get anywhere without it haha. Good Luck!~

COSPLAYER

Humble, cheerful and very enthusiastic are just some of the best ways to describe our cosplayer of the month. Check out Naru as she flawlessly conquers the art of bringing to life characters that she admires.

Aside from being a hardcore otaku, she also likes literature and RPG. She studied Bachelor of Secondary Education at the University of Santo Tomas and is now preparing to get her license. Whoever said teachers don't know how to have fun? Naru proves the opposite and redefines just how cool teachers could be!

LEE DAINE NARU

INTERVIEW BY ANN

Otaku Asia: It says on your official Facebook page that you started cosplaying on August 2009. What inspired you to cosplay?

Back when I was elementary, I had the urge to search for so many fanarts of my favorite characters such as Inuyasha, Zidane, and others on the internet. To my surprise, I saw people dressing up and wearing the same characters I was so fond of! Like any fangirl, I became curious of the underground society full of otakus, cosplayers and photographers in the local scene. My friends didn't really know what I was doing so I kept it a secret for a while until some of them got hooked into the hobby as well.

OA: Do you have, if any, someone you look up to in your passion in cosplaying and what made you like them?

I look up to any cosplayer out there who can empathize with their characters well and can pay attention to the littlest details. To be more particular, the one who struck me the most was Jin Joson. Despite the changes in the cosplay scene and the rising number of anime in the past years, Jin still perpetually loves her craft and still opens herself up to so many people who also enjoy it.

OA: Who is the first character you have cosplayed? And why?

It would have to be Yuuri Shibuya from God (?) Save Our King! At that time, it was still aired in Animax. Ozone Fest was just around the corner and, like most cosplays I've done in the past, I just happened to have the necessary materials to make the costume. There was no real reason behind it other than the convenience of having it made but what made the experience worthwhile was my very first encounter of an actual anime convention. Nothing beats the first.

OA: We've noticed that you like to cosplay as Fate/stay night's Saber, what qualities do you like most about her?

Saber is straightforward. She doesn't dilly dally, nor does she shilly shally. She's always driven by purpose, regardless if it's right or wrong. These are qualities that I normally don't have but would like to develop as well. She's passionate and loyal, unprecedented yet so frail with her beliefs. Saber reminds me of how each person is not perfect but still has the power to do great things.

OA: Among the characters you have cosplayed, can you name your top three favorites?

It would have to be Syaoran Li from Cardcaptor Sakura, Mirajane Strauss from Fairy Tail, and Kid from Chrono Cross. I know these aren't the cosplays I usually do but I like characters who force me out of my shell and make me do personalities that aren't typically mine.

OA: What do you find most rewarding in cosplaying?

A costume can be expensive. A kanekalon wig could cost a month's fortune but the experience of being in character with other people and connecting with them? Priceless.

OA: You are very impressive in cosplaying, but you also display so much talent. What are your most unforgettable experiences in performing onstage?

I wouldn't say impressive. Haha. It's still quite hard to come up with a good skit that will deserve a great applause from the crowd. Even if I experience it over and over again, my system will never get rid of the adrenaline of stepping onto the stage and facing such blinding lights. It's always the first step that makes it so unforgettable.

OA: Do you have any future plans in mind that fans can look forward to in your cosplaying career? If yes, what are they?

Well, I am thinking of changing my usual pace of choosing characters. I might step into Western, too. It's all a surprise, of course. wink

OA: What can you tell people who are aspiring to be cosplayers like you?

Don't aspire to be cosplayers. Don't even think of the crowd or whatever others will say about you. Aspire to be THE character. Nothing more, nothing less. You can't always get what you want, nor can you always shape your physique to a certain character but your will to BE the actual character will surface. No doubt about it. Keeping your feet on the ground is a plus point, too. But hey, don't stay in the fantasy world for too long, alright?

OA: Can you please name your online accounts where fans and aspiring cosplayers can check out updates of your cosplay activities and other projects?

LeeDaine Official is a Facebook page I update the most. I dump it all there. It's not only a page about me though. I also put most projects I have with friends as well.

There's more to know and to love about Naru so we hope to see more of her, and we definitely wish her the best in her endeavors. She serves as an inspiration in doing the things we love and finding ways to enjoy without being self-conscious. After all, we were never born to please everyone, so let's assure to be happy with ourselves.

Finishing materials (tips)

EMULSION

Cheap water based sealant that can be used as a primer to prevent the material to absorb the succeeding paint.

EPOXY PRIMER

Epoxy based paint use for the primer/first coat.

PAPERMACHE

Can be water resistant and can serve as a sealant before painting.

GOODSMILE COMPANY

written by Philip

Ever wanted to have one of those awesome character figurines to display on your room? The ones you saw in particular hobby shops? We all do. Whether as a kid or as an adult, it was once included in our Christmas wishlist. And because of that, manufacturers of said product are a godsend. One of them is Good Smile Company.

Good Smile Company is a Japanese manufacturer of hobby products such as the Nendoroid and figma product lines. Their products are usually based on anime, manga or video games that are popular in Japan. They sell a variety of products, focusing on polyvinyl chloride (PVC) character figurines. Touhou Project characters, Black Rock Shooter merchandise and Puella Magi Madoka Magica products are just some of the popular series that are included in their product line-up.

Good Smile Company is most well-known for the Nendoroid series. Nendoroid figures are usually based on the characters from different anime, manga or video games and are 10 cm tall. They are designed to have a large head and a smaller body, giving them a cute appearance. In addition to that, their faces and body parts are exchangeable to offer quite a wide range of different poses and expressions.

It was established by Aki Takanori in 2001 initially as an event management and talent company. Hobby related products eventually became the main focus of the company after working with Max Factory. Good Smile Company is now primarily involved in the planning, production, manufacturing and sales of figures and toys. That said, the company also markets other goods.

Good Smile Company also acts as a distributor for other hobby related companies including Max Factory, FREEing and Phat! Company.

On December 2012, Good Smile Company announced Miku Hatsune as their 300th Nendoroid, much to the fans' excitement. Aside from Miku Hatsune, other Nendoroid figures were also announced; Sakura Kinomoto (Cardcaptor Sakura), Rin Natsume (Little Busters), Houki Shinomono (Infinite Stratos) and Monokuma (Dangan Ronpa), to name a few.

Nendoroid figures of Levi from Attack on Titan and Luigi from Super Mario were recently announced to be released on June. The two are now available for preorder for fans worldwide and will be shipped by Good Smile Company from Japan during the month of the item's release date.

When all is said and done, Good Smile Company really is one of the best toy manufacturers out there. And aside from their awe-inspiring products, Good Smile Company is amazing at one thing: putting good smiles on both the kids' and adults' faces.

The irregular at magic high school

Wake up, summer is over. And you know what that means: school. No more staying up until the morning light for anime and games; it's time to take those classes. Math? Lane. English? Boring. How about magic? Yes, boys and girls, you read that right – MAGIC! Enroll in a Magic School near you to learn how to tap your inner powers so that you can perform amazing supernatural feats. Get ready to get schooled in the arcane arts by Tatsuya Shiba – this is Mahouka Koukou no Rettousei.

Based on one of the most popular light novels in Japan, Mahouka Koukou no Rettousei, roughly translated as "The Irregular Student of a Magical High School", is set in the year 2095, when magic is a natural phenomenon that can be harnessed by select individuals called magic technicians – magicians for short. In response to this discovery, different countries, including Japan, have established magic high schools, dedicated to honing the talents of young magicians. Among them are the Shiba siblings Tatsuya and Miyuki.

Almost inseparable, they enroll in the same school – the First Magic High School. Miyuki is a naturally gifted magician, making her qualified to be part of the regular program. Tatsuya, despite acing the admission exam, is only considered as an irregular student.

In First Magic High School, regular students, called "Blooms", tend to discriminate irregular ones, known as "Weeds". However, despite being a "Weed", Tatsuya gets recruited to the Public Morals Committee, who are tasked in policing those who break school rules. As he carries out his duties, he earns respect and recognition, as well as the ire of unknown forces in the shadows, dragging Tatsuya, Miyuki, and their friends in a conflict far greater than a regular magic high school student usually encounters.

TATSUYA SHIBA

Our story's protagonist. Calm, collected, and analytical, he hardly shows any emotions, save affection for his sister Miyuki, whom he not only dotes on but also dutifully protects. Tatsuya is a genius; as proof of this, he was able to rank first in the written admission exam of the First Magic High School.

ERIKA CHIBA

– Bright, outspoken, and active, Erika is a definite opposite of Tatsuya. Unlike him, she is very friendly, and easily gets along well with others. Belonging from the Chiba Family, a powerful family of magicians, she has received training in both physical and magical disciplines, making her a magician that is not to be underestimated.

MIZUKI SHIBATA

Mizuki is a gentle-natured and timid bespectacled beauty. She wears glasses not because her eyesight is impaired, but because they are oversensitive to magic particles, causing her to see them involuntarily without any aid, in turn causing a negative effect on her overall health. Nevertheless, she regards her condition as an asset.

LEONHART SAIJOU

More popularly known as "Leo", he is a friendly and happy-go-lucky guy. He has a bulky and athletic build, as well as knowledge in Reinforcement Magic, which allows any materials he is wearing to be as resilient as a body armor. With his magic being complementary to his physical traits, he is one tough cookie that you don't want to mess with.

SAYAKA MIBU

Sayaka was able to bag the second place in the National Middle School Kendo Tournament, making her more than just some pretty face. Still, despite her looks and skills, she could not help but feel inadequate because of her weak ability in practical magic. Because of this, she was motivated to join the Alliance, an organization that aims to remove the divide between Course 1 and Course 2 students.

As expected from Madhouse, the art is nothing short of stellar. The characters are vividly colored and beautifully drawn, and their movements are fluid and streamlined, making them an exciting treat to watch, especially during action scenes. The background, a combination of CGI and traditional animation, not only perfectly establishes the setting, but also the mood.

Another strength of Mahouka is in its worldbuilding. Unlike other anime titles that involve magic, the show has an established set of rules and jargon when it comes to its magic, so much so that it becomes too confusing and self-indulgent with the explanations. Of course, the viewers can either accept their failure to understand the loads and loads of information they are being provided or even skip it altogether without missing anything from the plot, but those who actually manage to understand them would be able to appreciate how well-built the setting is, how adherent it is with its in-universe realism, and how proficient the characters are in their magic.

Mahouka is a deviation from your usual magical school shounen anime. Instead of the protagonist being a bumbling idiot who does poorly in his studies, he is a genius who is still deemed as poor when it comes to academics. With such a setup, the show is able to display one of its central themes – the disconnect between how schools measure students' abilities and how students' abilities actually are, as well as the discrimination towards students who do not excel in academics in the conventional sense, making the show a social commentary on the issue.

The game Dengeki Bunko Fighting Climax, a 2D arcade fighting game by Sega that features characters from ASCII Media Works' Dengeki Bunko light novels, will be including Miyuki Shiba in its roster of playable characters. Tatsuya will also be in the game, but only as a supporting character.

MIYUKI SHIBA

Because of her looks, lineage, intelligence, and skills in the practical use of magic, she not only easily earned a spot in Course 1, but also the attention of the male population of the school. However, in her heart, there is one and one person only – Tatsuya. Welcoming and friendly, she is amenable to everyone, including his brother's friends in Course 2, despite being told by her fellow Course 1 students to not associate herself with them.

MAYUMI SAEGUSA

Mayumi is the pretty, petite, and prudent president of the Student Council. Always in the service of her fellow students, she is responsible and approachable, and believes that the discrimination between Course 1 and Course 2 students must come to an end. She is a prodigy in long-ranged precision magic shooting and has earned the moniker of "Elven Sniper".

MARI WATANABE

A total go-getter who is very dedicated to her job, Mari is the chief of the Public Morals Committee. Her magic specialty is anti-personnel magic – perfect for someone who is tasked to keep the peace.

HATTORI HANZOU

Hattori is the vice-president of the Student Council. Tatsuya defeated him in a very one-sided magic battle despite his employment of compound magic, which are as effective as they are difficult to master.

The characters, both their designs and personalities, are diverse and colorful, and their interactions with the lead almost always have significance to the plot and character development. However, because of the latter, the show, intentionally or otherwise, thrusts Tatsuya into the limelight most of the time, making the rest of the characters seem less relevant plot-wise even though it is definitely not the case. Nevertheless, despite suffering such a side effect, the show does give the supporting characters their well-deserved shining moments.

With top-notch art, a meticulously weaved universe, and an unorthodox yet cool protagonist, Mahouka Koukou no Rettousei will definitely leave those looking for an intelligent yet action-packed magical school-themed anime wanting more of its charms.

So, go ahead, take a break from your regular lessons and hit the screens for this little piece of magic.

Yamakawa Aiji's Stand Up! is a romance, school life, slice of life and shoujo manga that was released last 2013. It has been serialized in Betsuma (Shueisha) with a total of 7 chapters of 2 volumes.

Stand Up! is a story to all of us that can relate a developmental relationship when it comes to our seatmate. In every girl or boy there is an insecurity that keeping us from opening a chance to make friends or opening up to others, but it is not hindrance for us to knowing them. This manga can make us realize what is the important in each step of being a high school and coping up with things around us especially our classmates.

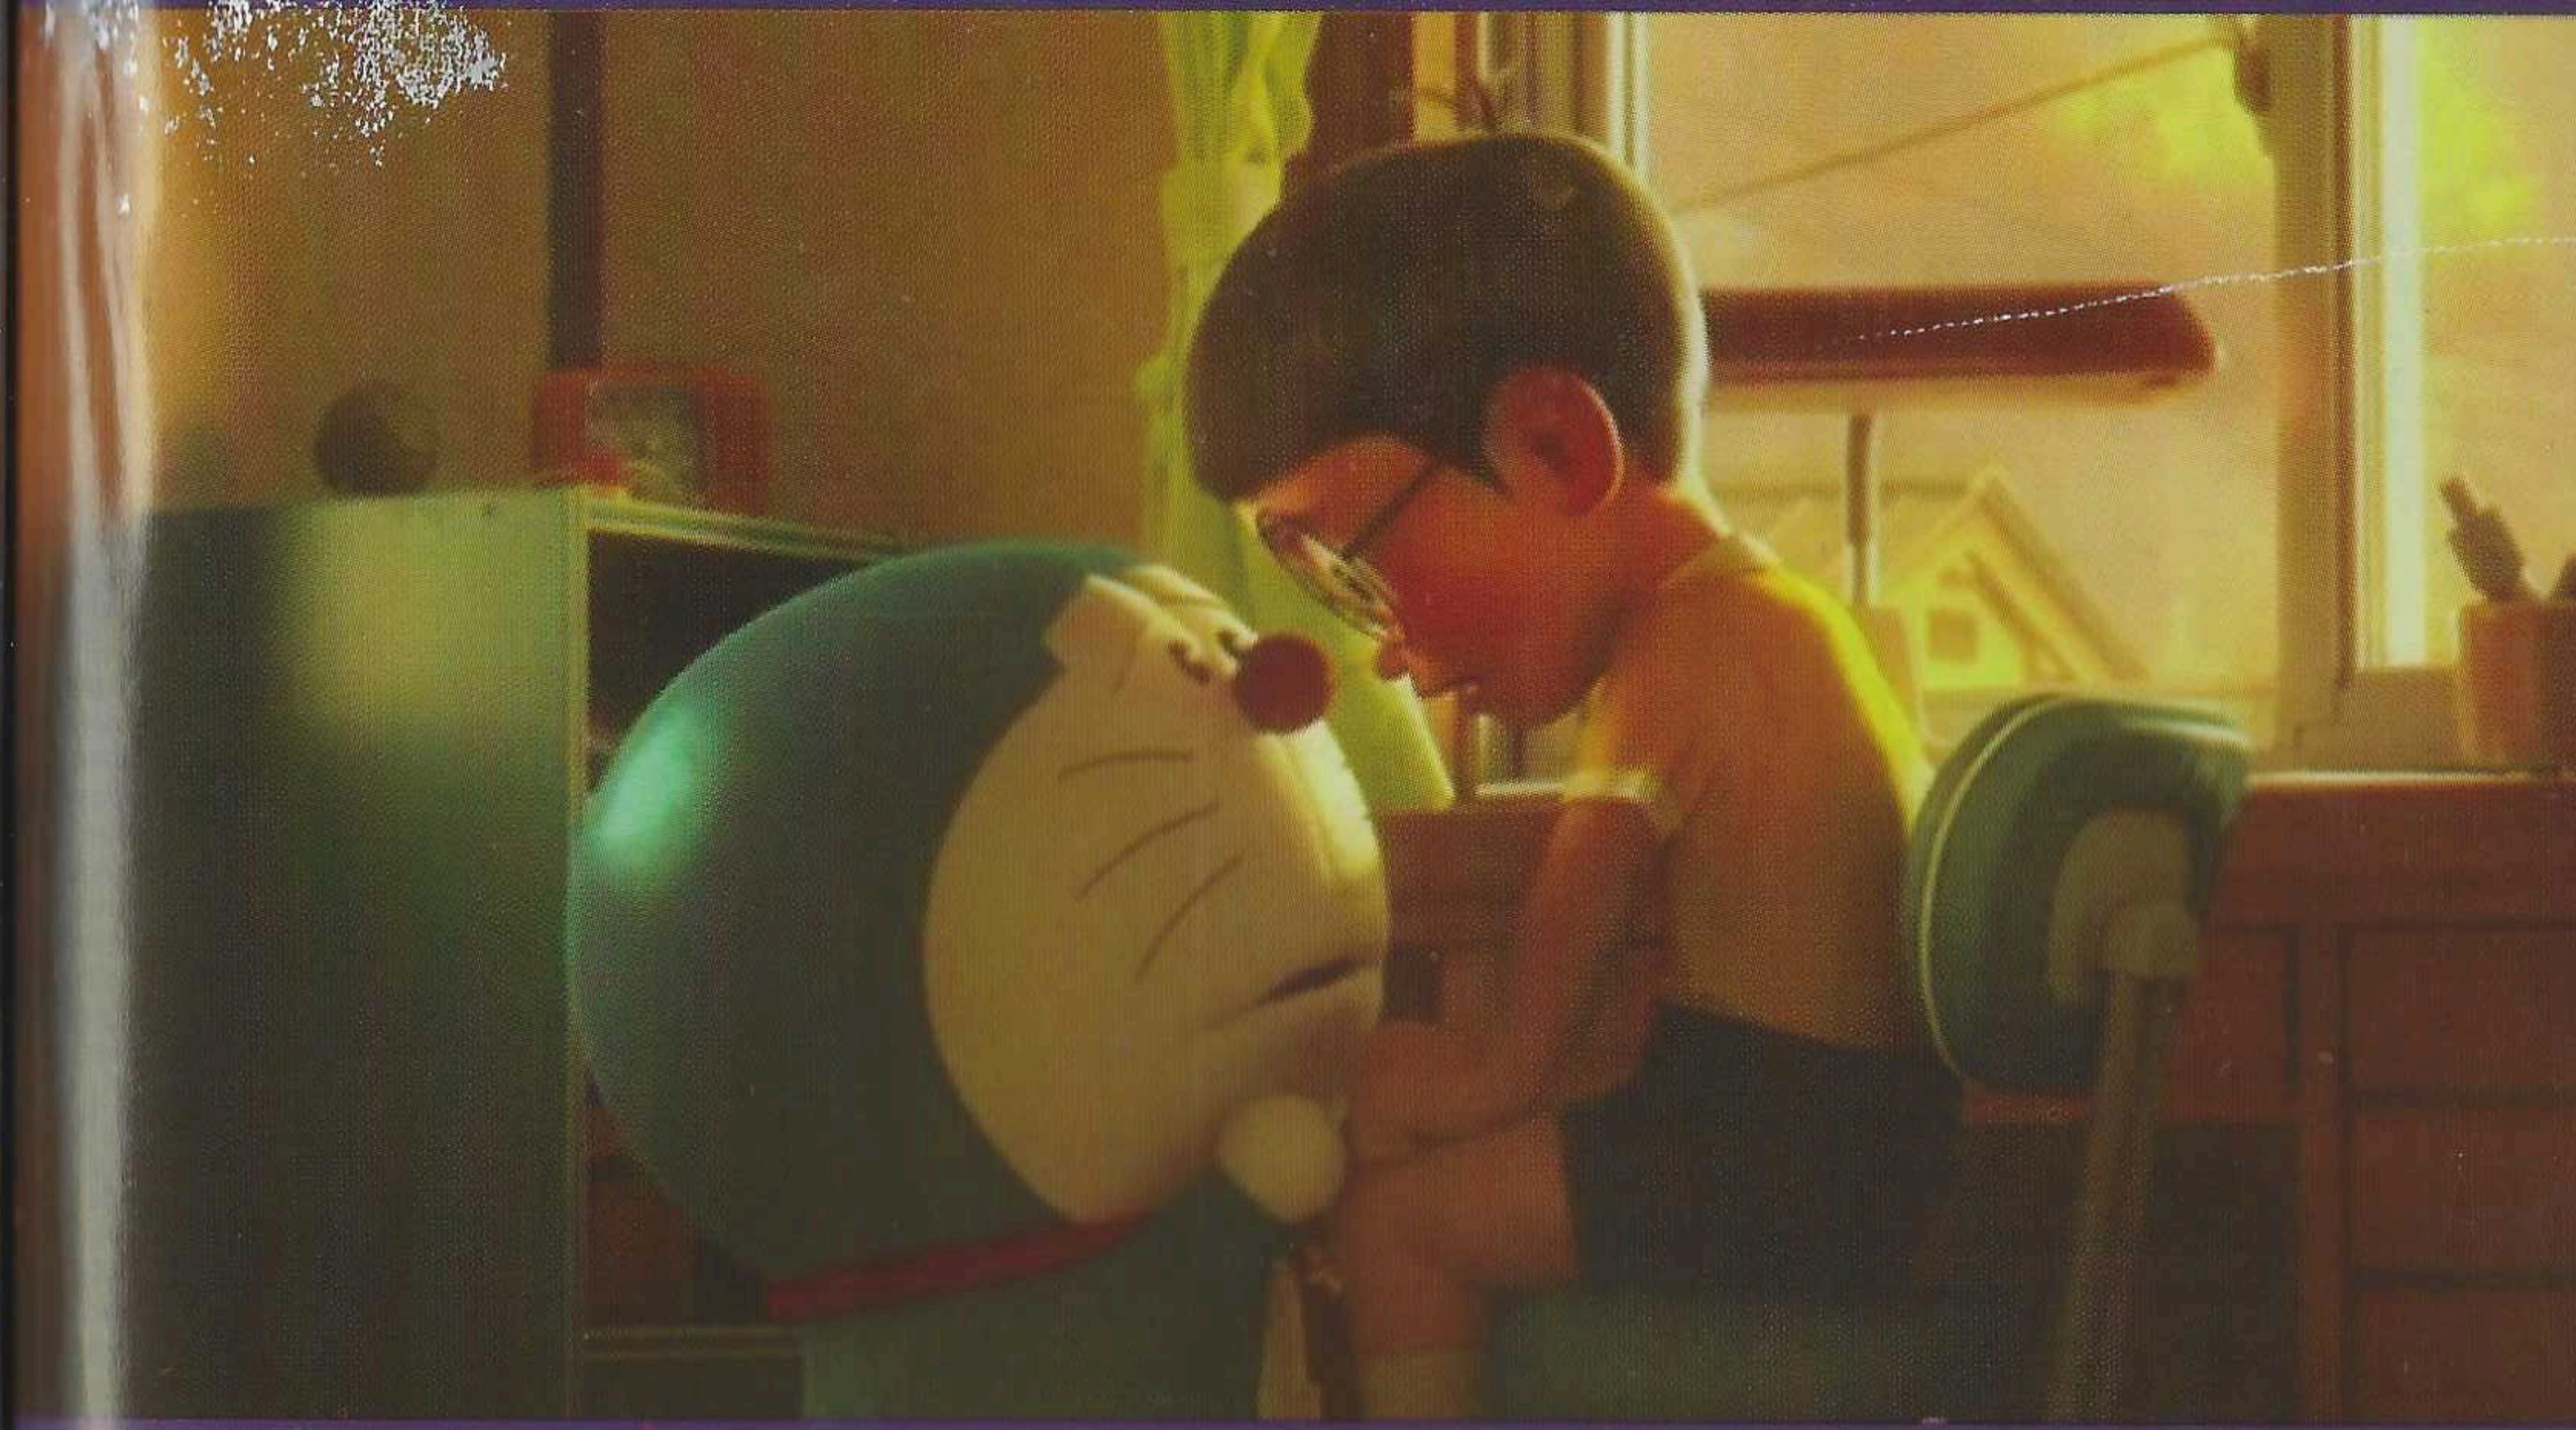

STAND BY ME Doraemon

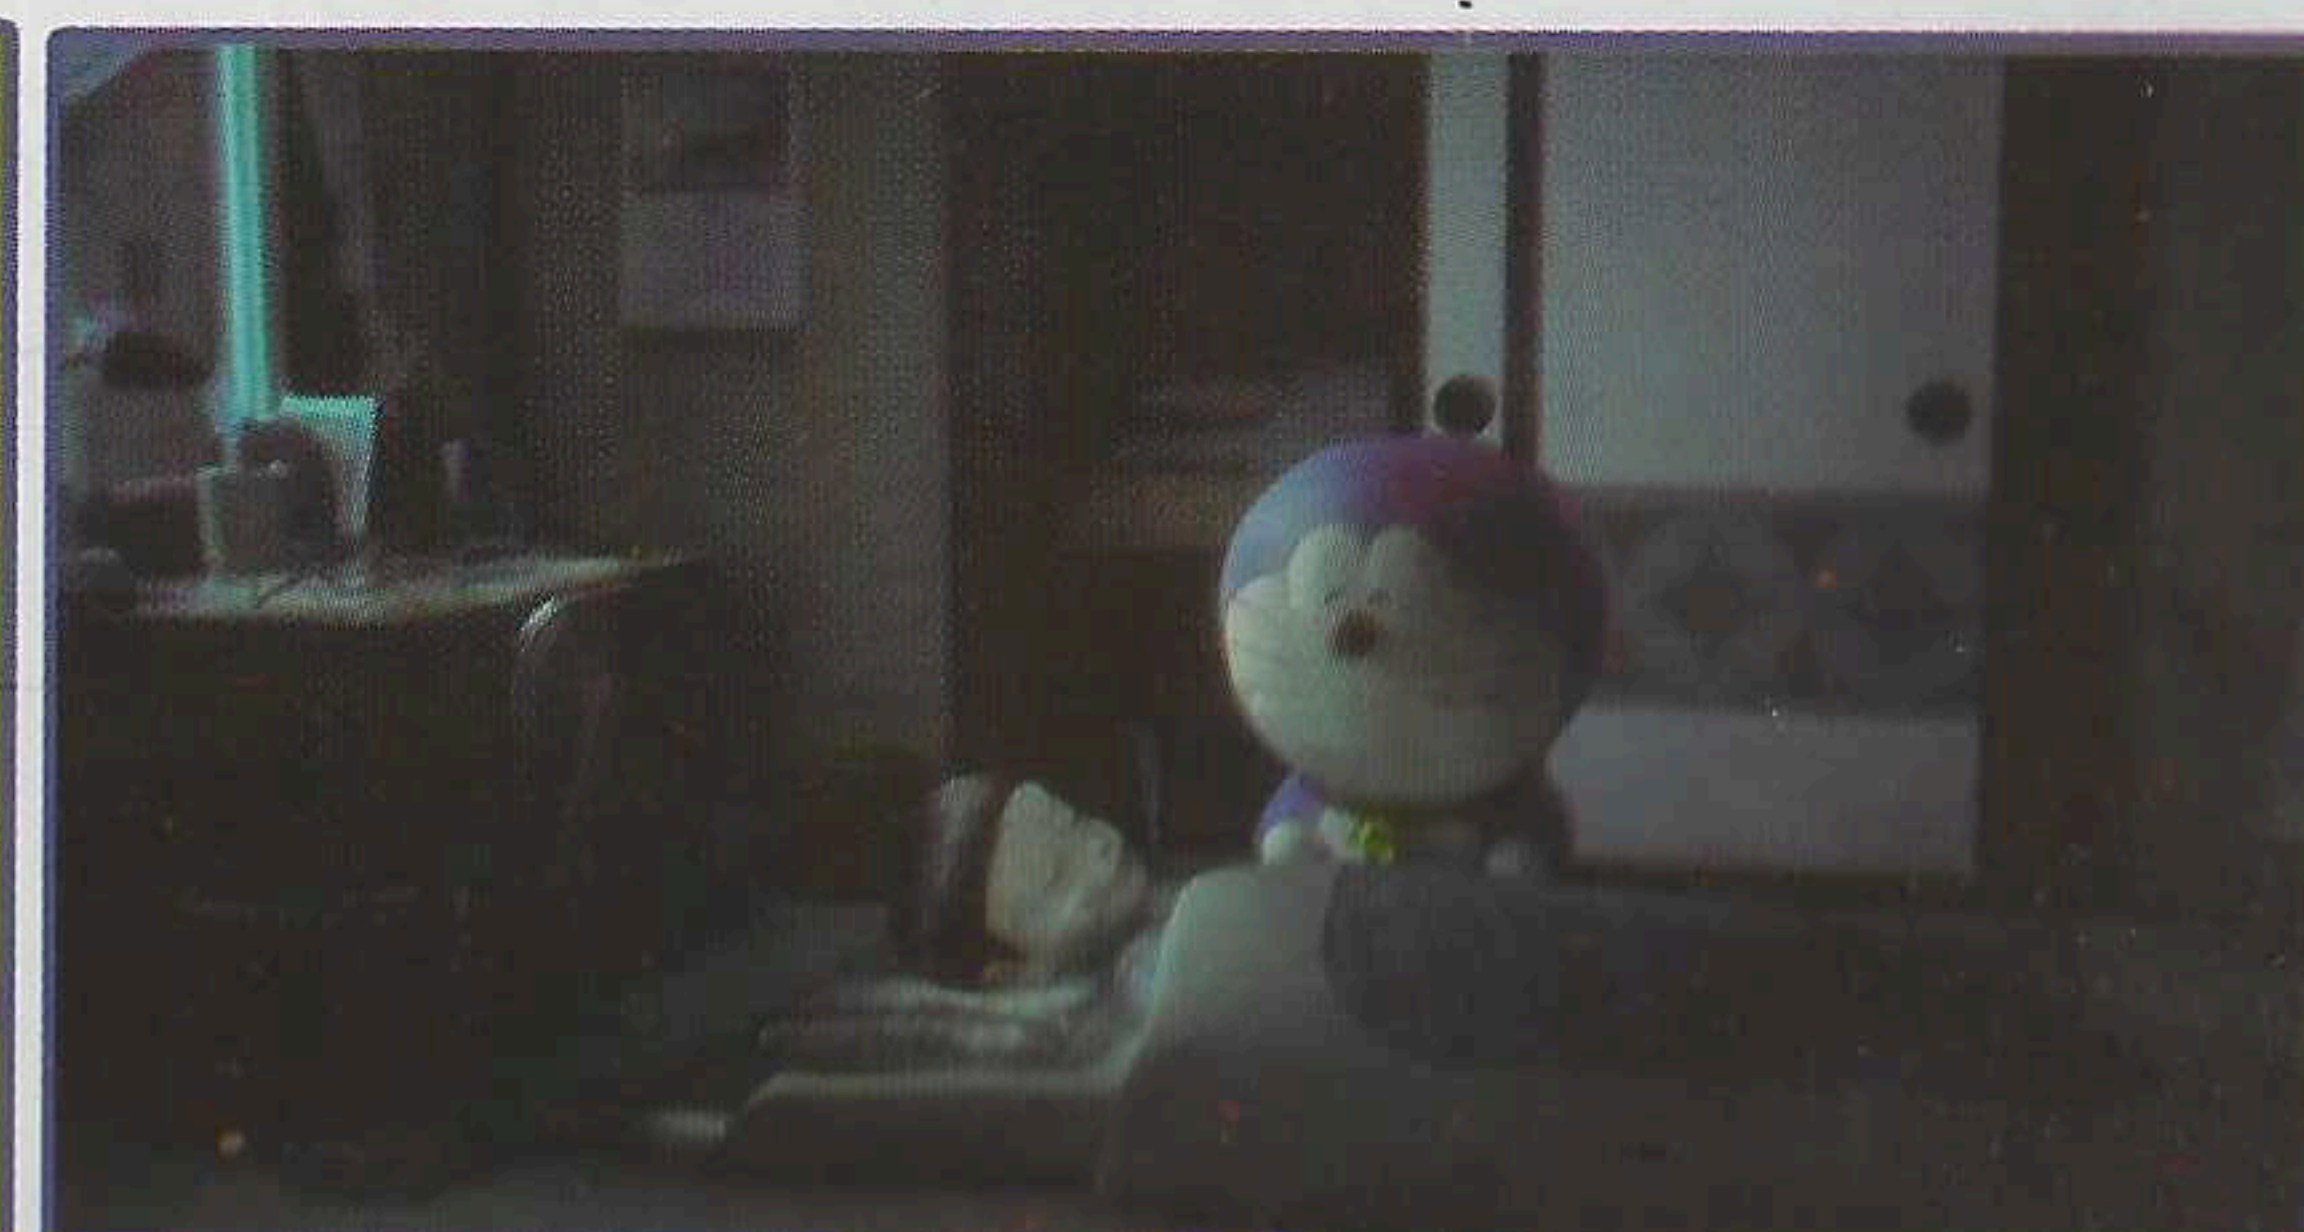

Ever wanted to soar in the air with just a cap that has a small helicopter blade? Perhaps even a time machine to change some mistakes we did in the past, or to check out your future partner? And don't forget the door that brings you to another place! Who doesn't love teleportation? One lucky kid had all these and more, but it was all with the help of a robot cat.

Directors Takashi Yamazaki and Ryūichi Yagi are bringing the characters of Doraemon to life and this time, as a three-dimensional computer graphics on the big screen by the title Stand By Me Doraemon. It is in celebration of the 80th birthday of the late co-creator, Hiroshi Fujimoto. The story was first created by manga duo Fujiko Fujio (Hiroshi Fujimoto and Motoo Abiko) in a manga series in 1969. It eventually evolved into numerous manga volumes, anime series and films.

From his four-dimensional pocket, Doraemon can pull out any futuristic gadget to resolve (and sometimes even worsen) the problems of a young boy named Nobita. Nobita's grandson from the future sent Doraemon to the present time to help Nobita go through his childhood. Together, they embark into an adventure that viewers will find humorous and moving. The film is described as Doraemon's first and final story, and it might be a tearjerker, especially when Doraemon says he can no longer stay with Nobita.

Doraemon is a big part of the childhood of most Filipinos. To us, it tells a story of a young boy we sometimes associate with our native Juan Tamad because of his overdependence to Doraemon but more than that, it is revelry of friendship. Through friendship, the pain, fears and sadness brought about by unfortunate childhood situations such as being bullied and feeling alone subsides.

Stand By Me Doraemon is, by all means, a film to watch not only because of its graphics that look like they're real but also because of the nostalgia and morals it brings. It is really sad when we have to say goodbye to someone but no matter what, this robot cat will always have a place in our hearts, and in that of Nobita's.

悪魔のりびる AK

Admit it, when you are a kid, you thought that girls from exclusive schools are all that – pretty, talented, smart, ambitious, and rich. Well, for the boys out there who are looking for a girl from an exclusive school, we heard that those from Myoujou Academy are quite a catch – beautiful, appealing, devious, and deadly. Guess you'd better steer clear of those lovely little lasses and just watch them from afar as they go for each other's throats in Akuma no Riddle.

Akuma no Riddle or "Riddle Story of Devil", is based on a manga written by Yun Kōga and illustrated by Sunao Minakata. The story is centered on Tokaku Azuma, a teenage girl who is an assassin with a bloody and mysterious past. Not only is she a student of the prestigious all-girls Myoujou Academy, but also in its Class Black – the school's most elite class. However, contrary to what the student populace knows, Class Black is elite because twelve out of its thirteen students, including Tokaku, are assassins, and the remaining one is meant to be their victim – Haru Ichinose, a sweet, kind, and friendly girl. However, they can't kill her right of the bat, as there are rules; they can only attempt to kill Haru if they declare an attack, they must succeed 48 hours after they declared the attack and if she succeeds, she will be granted one wish. If she fails, she will be expelled.

Tokaku became friends with Haru and discovers her tragic past and was swayed to discontinue her mission and protect Haru from the rest of Class Black. In a game only femme fatales can play, it will take more than the luck of the devil for Tokaku and Haru to survive.

TOKAKU AZUMA

a cool, calm, and stoic girl, Tokaku has been sent by a mysterious man named "Mr. Kaiba" to be a part of Class Black and assassinate Haru Ichinose. However, because of their friendship, she abandoned her mission and decided to protect Haru from everyone else. Being part of the Azuma clan, a powerful clan of assassins that has an influence on the country's fate, she has not only been trained in the assassination arts ever since a child, but also holds a mysterious past related to the secrets of her clan. Despite the way she was raised, she is morally upright, always managing to protect Haru without having to kill her assailants.

HARU ICHINOSE

the target of the entire Class Black save Tokaku, Haru is cute, sweet, bubbly, kind, friendly, and forgiving – someone you'd definitely hesitate on killing. Although she knows that her life is under constant threat from her classmates, she continues to be nice and pleasant towards them, even after attempting to kill her. Because of this, Tokaku, her protector, sees her as naive. She has endured a lot of pain from those who wish to murder her, as her family has been killed protecting her. With their great sacrifice always in her heart and mind, she strongly believes that she will live through any attack that will come her way.

ISUKE INUKAI

Isuke is one devious go-getter; attacking Haru even before the announcement of the target and the explanation of the rules. She's also quite bossy and domineering, always demanding to be called "Isuke-sama". Not much is known about her, aside from according to her, both her mother and father are men, which is a mystery in itself.

SUMIREKO HANABUSA

the the daughter of a wealthy and powerful CEO. Sickly and frail, she only uses furniture she has personally brought in.

HITSUGI KIRIGAYA

despite looking like an elementary schooler, Hitsugi is an intelligent and mild-mannered member of Class Black, only second to Haru when it comes to niceness. She is always with Namatame Chitaru, who acts as her guardian.

thanks to her expertise in explosive traps, Kouko would make a good assassin, but she doesn't want to be one, even though she was raised by the church to be as such, because she believes she is not cut out to be a killer. However, she is good in academics, as she was able to give Haru answers for a difficult math problem, as well as volunteer herself as a class representative.

The show follows a formulaic enemy-of-the-week format: an assassin declares an attack on Haru, her backstory and preparations are elaborated, and Tokaku looks after Haru's back and thwarts off the attack. Such setup is both bad and good: bad because it gets repetitive and predictable; and good because each of the assassins get to have the spotlight and have their personalities, pasts, and motivations are explored. Another good thing from the setup is that it makes full use of the premise of the show, which is based on the rules for killing Haru.

HARUKI SAGAE

Haruki is the girl who's always got a piece of Pocky in her mouth – the image of a brash thrill-seeker who just rolls however she pleases. Despite her attitude, she has a soft spot for her siblings.

SIENA KENMOCHI

Siena is a bright and outgoing girl, one you won't suspect of being an assassin. Even though she is definitely a trained killer, she is totally helpless without her glasses.

Visually, the anime is a dark yet beautiful piece of work. Produced by Diomedea and FUNimation Entertainment, the show boasts of fluid animation that really shows the elaborate movements of the during fast-paced action scenes, as well stylish character designs that are the epitome of cool. The washed-out colors of the backgrounds accentuate the grim atmosphere of the show.

The characters are one of the show's strong suits. The two leads, on the other hand, are able to make the audience not only care about them, but also curious about the way they act. For Tokaku, it's her vow to protect Haru and refusal to kill. And for Haru, it's her positive and trusting demeanor despite threats on her life, as well as her inability to harbor resentment for her assailants. Aside from that, their mysterious pasts, which would explain their behavior that seem to be inappropriate considering the current situation, their contrasting personalities that synchronize naturally, and Haru's pleasant demeanor affecting Tokaku give the audience another reason to stick around and root for the protagonists.

The supporting characters, on the other hand, are cool and diverse, and have few things alike with each other. However, most of them are flat characters and adhere to certain tropes, making them less relatable. Nevertheless, their many differences from one another creates a sense of variety – a much-needed element given the format of the show. Also, some of them, especially those given much screen time and plot relevance, despite being flat characters, become just as interesting as the leads.

two personalities rolled in one body – that is Shinya and Mahiru. Mahiru, who is soft-spoken and timid to a fault, manifests herself in the day. When the sun sets, Shinya, the frightening persona with the killer intent, sets in.

OTOYA TAKECHI

having earned the moniker of "Jack the Ripper of the 21st Century", Otoya is a sadistic psychopath who derives pleasure in killing.

Falling under the survival-action genre, the show, aside from being filled with over-the-top edge-of-your-seat action between girl assassins, has a dark and heavy tone contribute by the art style, as well as the mysteries with the plot and characters. Still, despite the air, it does have its light moments thanks to some lighthearted and comedic interactions of the characters. While it is sometimes inappropriate, abrupt, and causes an unwelcome shift in the mood, it works wonders in lightening the mood when done right.

SUZU SKUTO

Not much is known about Suzu, aside from her athletic looks and being physically active, as well as being roommates with Kouko.

NIO KASHIRI

a petite blonde who's a little ball of fun, Nio provides the comedy relief whenever Haru isn't. But don't let her joker act get the best of you – she's the one in contact with the higher-ups of Myoujou Academy.

CHITARU NAMATAME

Chitaru is the tallest girl in Class Black, and is the one among them who looks like a bishounen. She protects Hitsugi, and has stated to Tokaku and Haru that she and Hitsugi has no interests in attacking Haru.

TITANIZED WARFARE TITANFALL™

Among all the FPS games we've played, we have yet to see a game where players can pilot a giant robot in the battlefield instead of traditional military vehicles like tanks and buggys while carrying weapons developed from the most cutting-edge technology of their time. But now in 2014, that game concept has finally become a reality.

Titanfall is the newest addition to the First-Person Shooter game genre and Respawn Entertainment's debut game. The game was released last March 11 and is published by Electronic Arts exclusively for PC, Xbox 360 and Xbox One. Ever since its trailer release, Titanfall became one of the most highly anticipated game of the year due to the fact that the people who formed Respawn used to be co-founders of Infinity Ward—the game company responsible for the successful Call of Duty franchise.

SETTING

Set on a derelict and war-torn planet with the Interstellar Manufacturing Corporation (IMC) and the Militia fighting against each other for the natural resources. Both factions have access to advanced military weaponry and agile bipedal tanks called "Titans".

GAMEPLAY

Even though campaign mode is available, Titanfall doesn't allow the player to play solo as the game is basically an online game.

Players may choose to constantly move around the battlefield as a free-running pilot or get inside a Titan to cause some serious damage. Unlike most FPS games, human pilots in Titanfall are much more agile and can accumulate momentum while running which allows them to wallrun, double jump with their jetpacks or even glide across ziplines. Titans on the other hand, have its jumping ability replaced with a dash maneuver that can be used for a limited time.

All pilots have anti-Titan weapons equipped by default along with their customized gun selection. They also have access to tactical abilities such as x-ray vision, stealth camouflage and regenerating speed boosts. Trying to fight against a Titan is not an easy feat, but it'll be worth the effort if the pilot has successfully destroyed or hijacked an enemy pilot's Titan. Pilots can eject from heavily-damaged Titans before it explodes, and the Titan replacement timer is reset upon the Titan's termination.

There are three different Titan classes that differs in speed, size and armor: Atlas, Ogre and Stryder. Each chassis has a respective core power that works on a cooldown timer. Their tactical abilities are the vortex shield and the Titan-concealing smoke that keeps the pilots from climbing the Titan's back.

Titanfall has a total of five multiplayer modes and 15 game maps to choose from. All game modes have AI-controlled soldiers called "Grunts" for the Militia side and "Spectres" for the IMC side. Grunts and Spectres are meant to be in the map for scenery and sometimes, another source of points for the players in Attrition mode. Whenever a team wins, the game ends with the losing team trying to retreat to their evacuation dropship while the winning team attempts to deny their extraction.

REVIEW

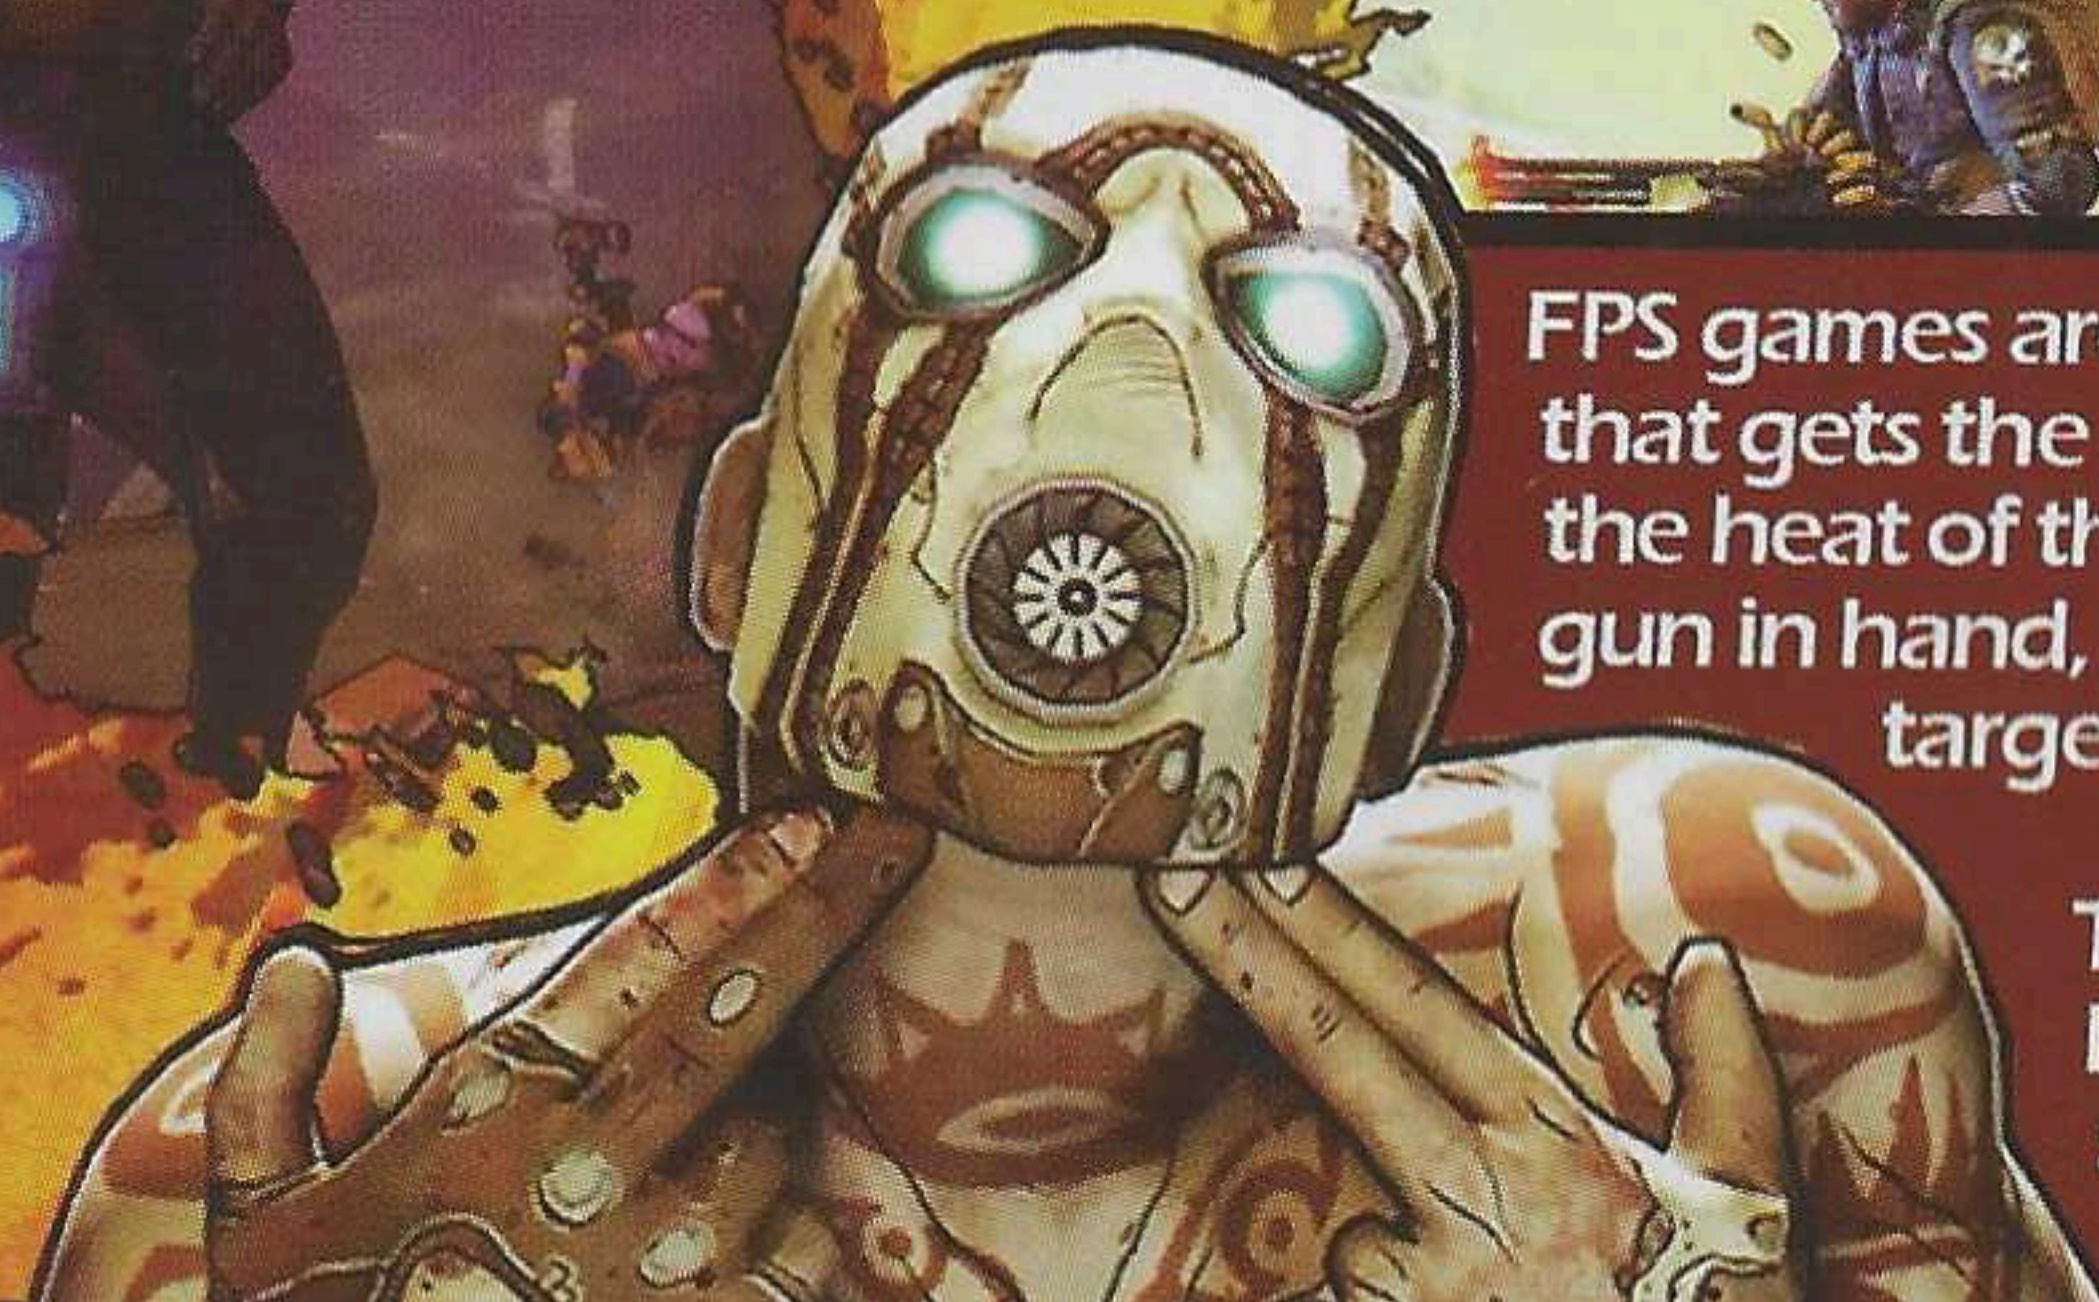

Titanfall managed to add what was missing in the FPS genre, but the downside is that the game modes aren't as innovative as we thought it would be. Visually, it's the most detailed FPS game ever created. As there's little story in Titanfall, the campaign mode was just like a long tutorial for the players to get a grasp of the game's system. However, despite its shortcomings, Titanfall was able to deliver quality gaming experience since the game's selling point was adding parkour elements to the fast-paced gunfighting and fighting with or against giant robots that are considered as superweapons by today's standards.

In this game, there is no such thing as "Pick on someone your own size". While Titans obviously have a slight advantage against pilots, they can be destroyed by anti-Titan weapons or by hijacking the unit and disabling it from the outside. Whether the player decides to play as a pilot on-foot or ride a Titan, their ingenuity will be useful in order to make a difference.

If you're getting tired of playing online FPS games because they're basically the same, Titanfall might be able to change your mind. Once you've tried playing the game, you will realize that it'll take more than reflexes and headshots to survive in the field.

TREADING THE BORDERLANDS 2

FPS games are one of the most popular game genres that gets the player to pump up their adrenaline as the heat of the raging shootout continues. With a gun in hand, your objective is to eliminate all hostile targets in a specific area.

They say that nothing else matters in an FPS game aside from your gun selection, but what if we combine various RPG elements in a shooter Four Vault Hunters were guided by a mysterious entity known as "The Guardian Angel" on the planet of Pandora to the Vault. Instead of alien technology, what they encountered was an alien abomination called "The Destroyer" inside the Vault. Upon defeating the monster, Handsome Jack of the Hyperion Corporation seizes the "Eridium" that started flourishing through the planet's crust and plans to use it under the pretense of "bringing peace" to Pandora. Now, Jack has the authority over the denizens of Pandora from his massive H-shaped satellite that can be seen in-front of Pandora's moon.

Five years later, a different group of Vault Hunters are drawn to Pandora thanks to the rumor that an even larger Vault is hidden somewhere in the planet. They are also tasked to kill Handsome Jack and restore peace to Pandora.

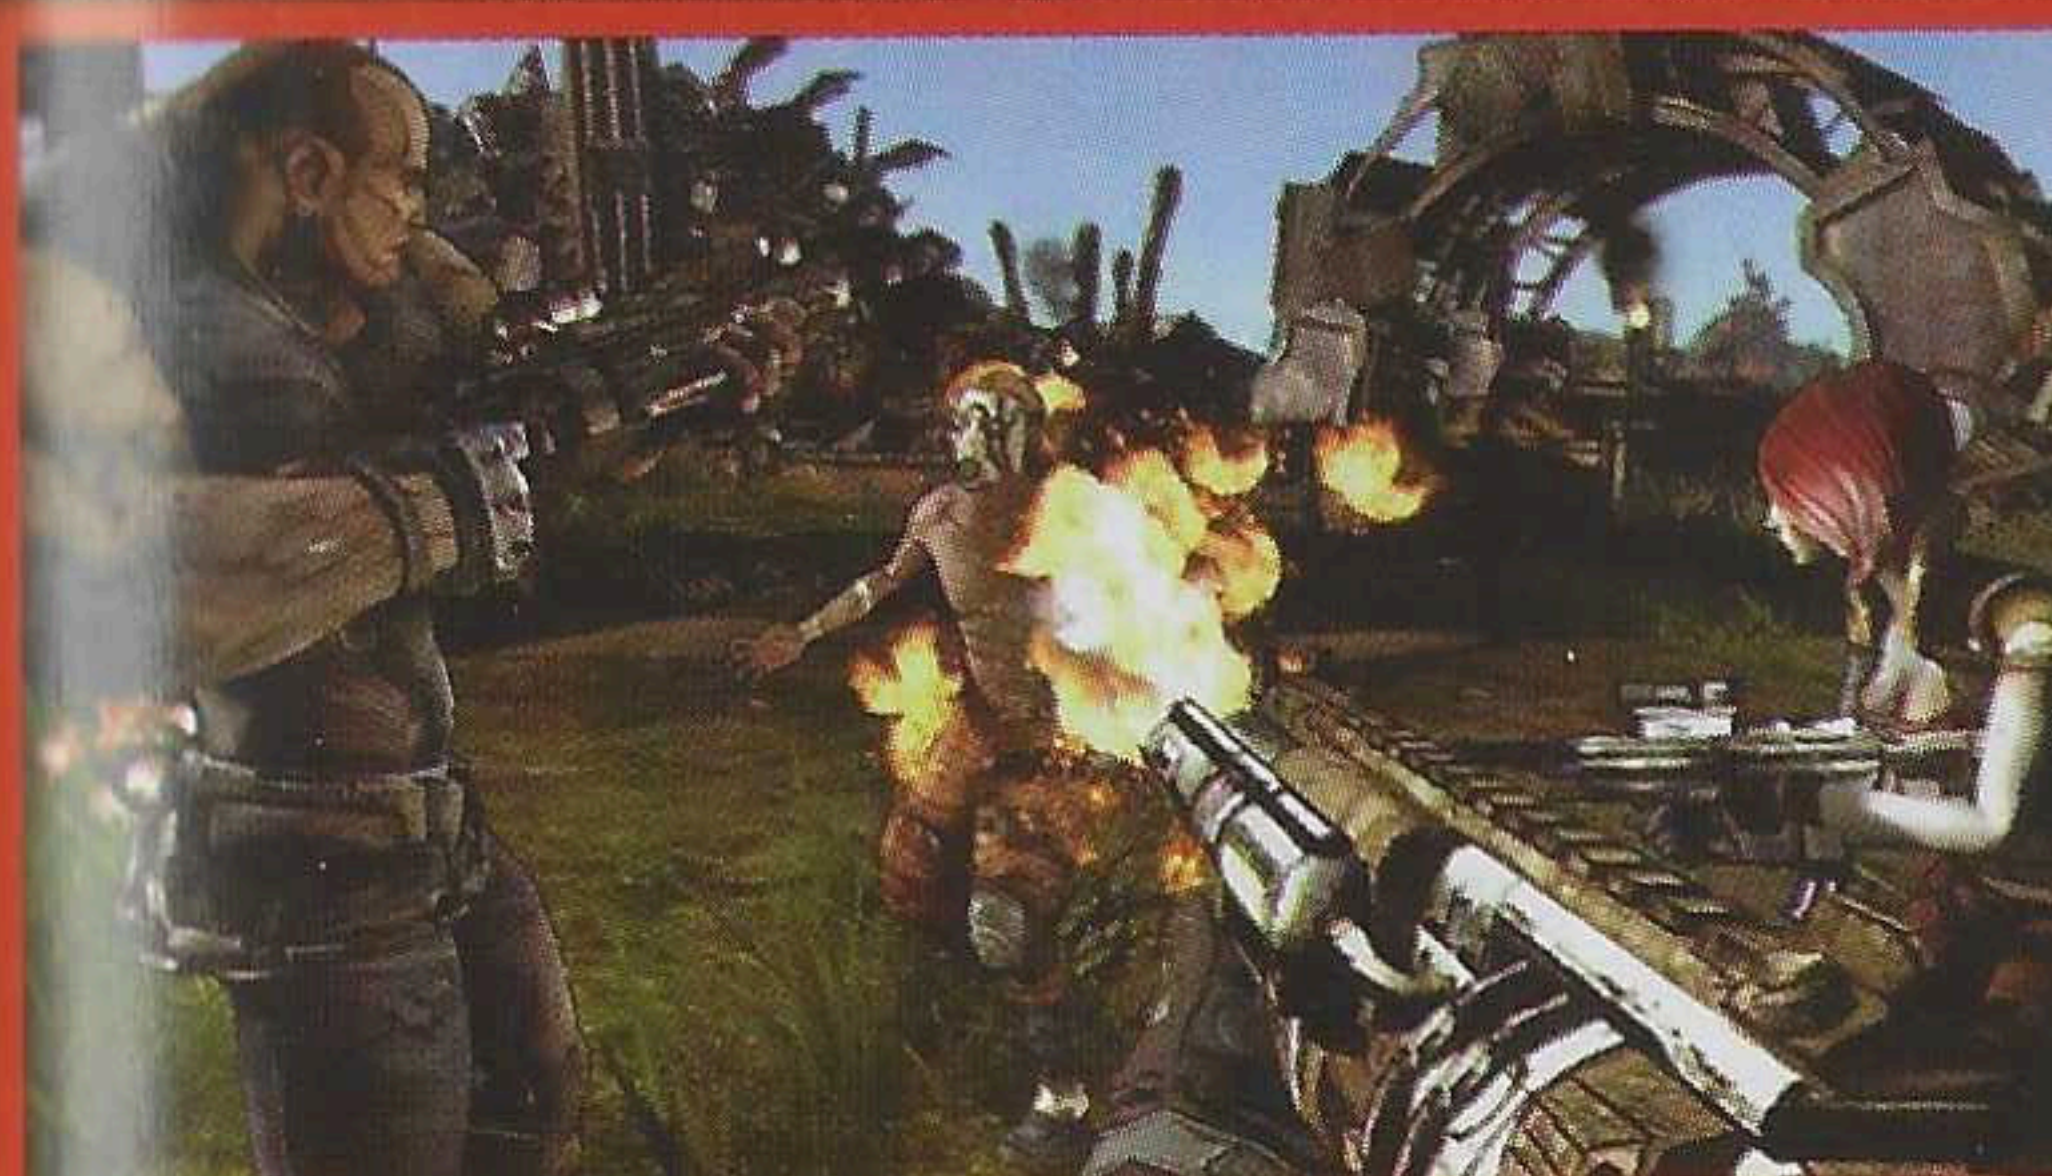

Borderlands 2 is a First-Person Shooter Role-Playing Game and the second game in the Borderlands series. Developed by Gearbox Software and published by 2K Games. The game was released for the PC, PlayStation 3, and Xbox 360 on September 2012. Borderlands 2 was also ported to PlayStation Vita last May 14 this year.

The Borderlands series will have an episodic graphic adventure game by Telltale games with creative input by Gearbox titled "Tales from the Borderlands". A third game is also in the works by 2K Australia titled "Borderlands: The Pre-Sequel". Both games are set to be released this 2014.

GAMEPLAY

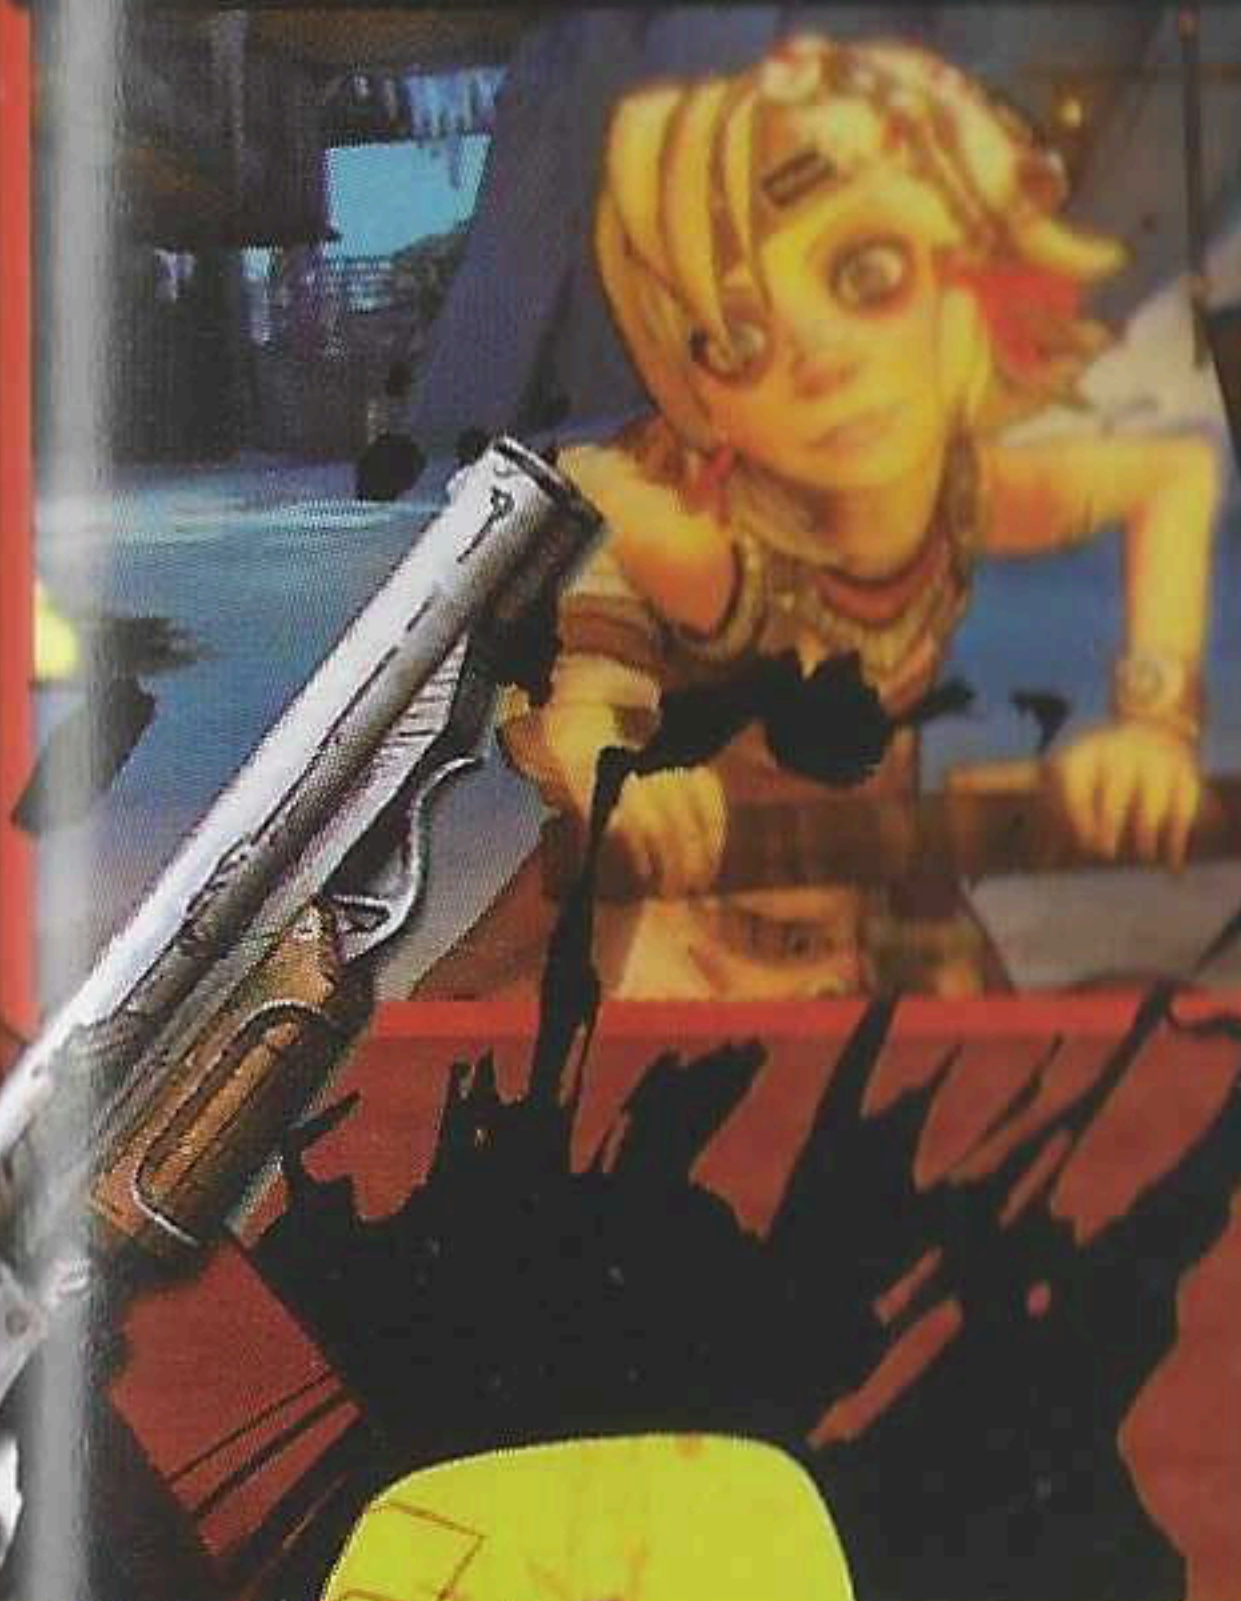

Borderlands 2 has a campaign mode where players can do story quests and optional side-quests while taking the role of one of the four Vault Hunters. Just like the first game, RPG elements such as character-building, online collaborative campaign and randomly generated loots of items are in Borderlands 2. There are a total of four initial classes for the players to choose from: Commando, Siren, Gunzerker and Assassin, as well as two DLC characters: Mechromancer and Psycho.

As a first-person shooter game, the player can have a wide-selection of both melee and ranged weapons from different weapon manufacturers. Each weapon, regardless of the type, has different strengths and weaknesses based on its manufacturer. Since there are RPG elements in Borderlands 2, experience points are gained for killing normal enemies, bosses, or completing quests. Players can also allocate points on their skill tree to give them an edge when facing baddies on Pandora. They can also get bonus stats from earning Badass tokens which is rewarded by completing challenges.

REVIEW

Incorporating RPG elements into an FPS game is the reason why Borderlands 2 is unique from most shooter games. One of its charms is the open-world feature where players can immerse themselves inside the planet of Pandora, searching for stronger weapons, completing quests or even commencing boss battles.

Loots are everything in Borderlands 2. A seasoned RPG player will always welcome a rare colored item coming out of a chest or dropped by a recently slain enemy with open arms. Guns may be similar to one another, but the stat bonuses and augmentations will be a huge factor in selecting the player's best loadout. Borderlands 2 made looting a very rewarding feature for players because they are bound to obtain better equipment than what they already have in their hands throughout the game.

Character building has become more diverse than the first game as players are now given the chance to customize their chosen class to suit their playstyle. For instance, one player's Assassin focused on sniping while the other is specialized in melee-based stealth kills. Skill points can also be reallocated over and over, but it'll cost the player a negligible fee.

Borderlands 2 is a game that gave its players the best of both worlds. If 30 hours of playtime wasn't enough, there are other game modes and DLCs that will motivate players to continue filling enemies with holes and get away with the loot. Out of the four platforms, Borderlands 2 is best played on a high-end PC for the best shoot-and-loot experience.

AQUATIMEZ

"Oreta awai tsubasa~"

Who isn't familiar to these lyrics. With a number of their songs used in anime soundtracks, Aqua Timez, a popular Japanese alternative-pop-rock band, sure is a hit to every otaku.

The band formed in 2000 after two of the original members (Futoshi – Vocal, and OKP-Star – Bass) met on the internet and discovered that they attended the same university. The two attempted to start a band together. Unable to agree on the band's future, the two disbanded.

In 2003, the current band members gathered and formed "Aqua Timez". Their first independent music mini album, "Sora Ippai ni Kanaderu Inori", was released on August 2005. In 2006, the group were signed to Epic Records Japan and released their second mini album, "Nanairo no Rakugaki". In the same year they released two singles, "Ketsui no Asa ni" and "Sen no Yoru o Koete", which were used as the theme music in the animated films "Brave Story" and "Bleach: Memories of Nobody" respectively.

Later that year, the full first album for the band was released. Kaze wo Atsumete was their first full length album and reached a peak position of 3rd on the Oricon charts. Since its release, the album has sold over 200,000 copies. "Shiori", their third single, was used in commercials for a brand of beverage known as Mitsuya Cider.

The following year in 2007, their fourth single "Alones", was used by the anime Bleach as its 6th opening song. In 2009, their 8th single "Velonica", was used again by the anime Bleach as its 9th opening song.

As of September 2012, they have published a total of 2 mini albums, 15 singles, 5 albums, and a single compilation album.

Are you familiar with Sket Dance? In the episode entitled "Sketchbook", where Bossun, being the leader of the Sket Dan and with his passion to help others, decided to form a band. Along with his friends Himeko and Switch, they named it "the Sketchbook", and together they dedicated a song for the violinist during the school festival.

The band sung "Funny Bunny" and "Michi". The songs were dubbed by a real life band "The Sketchbook" which was created for the anime itself.

The Sketchbook is a band which was produced through The Sketchbook Project and is named for the band formed by the Sket Dan during the Kaimei Rock Festival. The band, being active since the formal announcement of their formation in July 2011, performed the vast majority of opening/ending themes for the Sket Dance anime. They are affiliated with Avex entertainment.

SKET+Sketch is a group which consists of Hiroyuki Yoshino, Ryoko Shiraishi, and Tomokazu Sugita, the seiyuu for Bossun, Himeko, and Switch respectively with The Sketchbook (but not only Hiroshi Tada, the guitarist Riko Kohara and drummer Yuu Watanabe also sing). They sing the anime's 6th ending theme "Sekai wa Okujo de Miwataseta".

An Assassin's Journey

An assassin who wants to get revenge on her master's death, she walked on a journey to kill her master's murderer. On her way, she met different persons who will accompany her on the journey with their own tasks to finish.

Aruka, who lives as an assassin of the "Clan of Swords" vowed to find Jin Valel and get her revenge. The story of Blade and Soul is to walk the path through revenge.

Based from the famous Korean martial arts MMORPG developed by NCsoft, an anime adaptation of Blade and Soul was made by Gonzo. The characters are very appealing as it follows the story of the assassin Alka of the Clan of Sword and goes to a journey, finding the killer of her master.

Characters

Aruka

The main heroine of the story. She is an assassin, but she will later realize that she don't want to get back on her past life, and that is to kill to finish her job. She is straight-forwarded girl who don't hesitate to kill anyone if she needs to. Her fighting skills were been trained by her master, which were killed by Jin Valel.

Hazuki Jin

A dirty mercenary and a bounty hunter, she is always seen to hunt people in the wanted list. She used guns as her weapons and a daily costumer in Tomon Inn. After she discovered Aruka on the wanted list whom she just met and treat her in a dinner, she started an assault to Aruka to get the bounty on her head. They fought and finish the match putting Hazuki into a defeat.

Karen Elle

The proprietress and a performer of Tomon Inn and an acquaintance to Hazuki. Seems to be defenceless, she is quick with her weapon, a fan. She save Hazuki on her fight with Aruka. A business-minded woman, she is seem to dislike being involved in any fights and conflicts.

The show is flashy and full of action. If you want an anime series full of combats, you are reading the right anime for you. The story will give you a lot of twists and unpredictable paths, making you put yourself on the shoe of Aruka, to kill and accomplish your mission or be killed.

Sudden Death

Matcha, Earl Grey, Darjeeling, Jasmine and Milk Tea are just some samples of the tea we usually drink nowadays. From tea parties to tea shops, you can drink it even if it is cold. Not only is it good for your health, but also good for calming your nerves...

Hey! Just wait for a moment! The title is Sudden Death?! So why are we talking about tea here? Aren't we supposed to talk about something that is game-related?

Sudden Death is an anime that focuses on the story of Matsuri Koume and her friends as a part of the Tea Ceremony Club.

In tea gatherings, it is a custom to have snacks served at the same time. Koume, who really loves sweets, heard this from her friend Hiiragi Sasuga.

Together with her classmates, Tsuchimikado Momiji and Yamada Mikaeru, they joined the Tea Ceremony Club. Managed by Ookouchi Ayame, the 11th grader president of the club, they embark on their daily lives as members of the club.

But that doesn't answer the initial question of, why is the title Sudden Death?

Sudden Death is also known as Sadon-desu. Sado is the Japanese translation for the phrase, 'tea ceremony'. The anime is based on the 4-panel manga by Hatsuki Kyo and Nowa. As a manga that focuses on comedy, the title is based on an "it sounds like" kind of pun. Weekly Young Magazine started serializing the series back in 2012 while the anime adaptation is produced by Gainax and is set to premiere somewhere in 2014.

With the mixed personalities of the characters and unique set-up of Tea Ceremony Club, you will definitely laugh to your heart's content watching this comedy anime.

Glass Slippers

"On the other side of the glass, you can see tomorrow."

Glass is an optically transparent solid material that has proven its worth in the history of mankind. Though the material is brittle and could easily be shattered even with a small amount of force, with proper handling and care, a glass composition could last for a decade...or even a millennium.

Glasslip introduces six high school students that meet during summer in Fukui Prefecture. Among them is a 17 year old local named Touko Fukami, whose life long dream is to become a glass artisan.

Glasslip is the next slice of life anime by P.A Works that was also responsible for Tari Tari, Hanasaku Iroha and Nagi no Asukara. Junji Nishimura, who also hadled True Tears, will direct the anime's production. Glasslip is set to premiere in Summer 2014, which coincides with the anime's setting while the theme song will be perfermes by ChouCho and nano.RIPE

The title "Glasslip" could be categorized as a Japanese pun for the words "glass" and "slippers" which references the famous Cinderella theme. The anime is also set in Fukui Prefecture and is famous for its coastal beaches which could trigger your summer soul!

P.A. Works never fails to deliver the tears and feels no matter the theme nor season, hence if your looking for an unforgettable summer escapade, then don't miss Glasslip!

CONSULTATIONS: EVERYTHING UNDER THE SUN

School season is here once again, and with it comes some challenges of everyday life. Fret not, for help is here! All you need to do is let your voice be heard in the school newspaper. Don't believe me?

Enter the Kyuumon Gakuen Second News Club, a club which aims to help students with concerns about everything under the sun. That club is also the main setting of the upcoming anime, Jinsei.

Jinsei is a series about Yuuki Akamatsu, a boy who joins his school's newspaper club. Almost immediately, Ayaka Nikaido, the editor-in-chief, asks him to become a counselor of the club, where he is paired with three girls who give advice on student-sent issues. The three are Rino Endou, the science representative, Fumi Kujou, the literature representative, and Ikumi Suzuki, the sports representative. But there's one problem... the three can't seem to get their differing opinions to agree! Looks like Akamatsu now has a big task ahead of him as a fellow counselor in the club.

Jinsei is set to air on July of 2014. It is an adaptation from the light novel of the same name written by Ougyo Kawagishi. This adaptation will be done by Feel studio, which gave us titles such as Da Capo and Outbreak Company. With the show's premise, expect lots of comedy, some romance, and a slight dose of ecchi.

This should be one interestingly fun show, so be sure to check it out!

Virtual Idol! Aimi Eguchi

Aimi Eguchi is a pop idol born on February 11, 1995 in Saitama, Tokyo and joined the popular all-girl Japanese group AKB48 as a trainee. Want to know more about her?

Well she's actually not a real person but born out of the technology we have today.

After joining AKB48, she appeared in a commercial of Ezaki Glico to promote its Ice no Mi product. From this commercial, millions of fans of the groups were divided into speculating her existence and defending her humanity until Glico revealed that she was not actually human, causing disappointment in many fans.

She was actually a computer generated combination of the facial features of the members of AKB48: Atsuko Maeda (eyes), Totomi Itano (nose), Mariko Shinoda (mouth), Yuko Oshima (hair/body), Minami Takahashi (outline) and Mayu Watanabe (eyebrows). Aimi didn't only appear in the commercial but also appeared in magazines, photo shoots and has her own profile in the band's page until it was removed on May 2013.

Virtual idols continue to rise in the industry, like Hatsune Miku for example. You might want to check out Aimi Eguchi's commercial and see if she's human to you or not.

BITS

THE EDGE OF TOMORROW

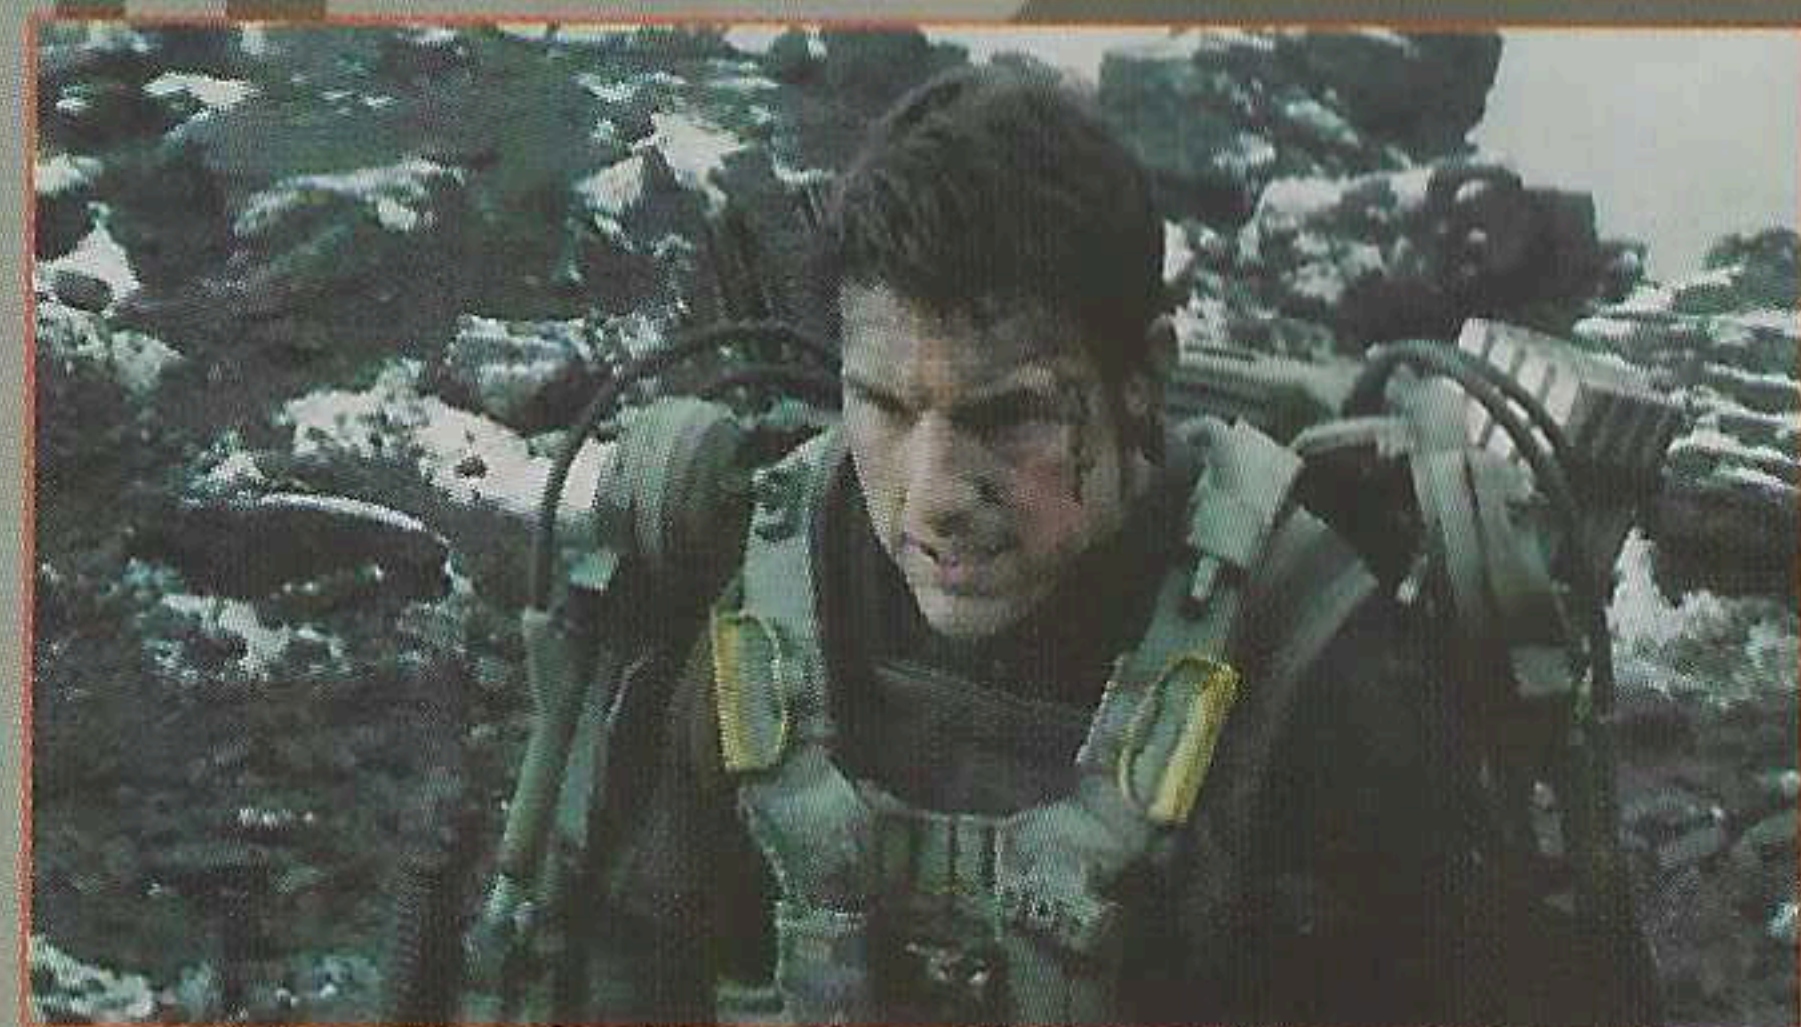

In every morning we wake up, we start fresh and with a clean slate. Still, we don't really begin from scratch after we awaken; we just continue living life as best as we can. But what if you could redo your life after dying?

Lieutenant Colonel Bill Cage (played by Tom Cruise) was given this ability but starting all over again could really bother anyone, especially if you seem to be doing it in an endless loop.

Directed by Doug Liman and starring Tom Cruise and Emily Blunt, Edge of Tomorrow is a science-fiction action movie by Warner Bros. and Village Roadshow Pictures, and 3 Arts Entertainment. It is set to be on the big screen this June. It was based on All You Need Is Kill, a Japanese light novel written by Hiroshi Sakurazaka.

The story follows Cage in an apocalyptic future as he searches for the truth behind his restarting abilities and fought in a war against the aliens called Mimics in order to protect the Earth from being conquered. He meets Rita Vrataski (played by Emily Blunt) who trains him to become more skilled in the battlefield. Together, they venture into a combat that would take them to the edge.

Will they be able to defeat their enemies and find purpose in their existence? Or will they be stuck in time and space for all eternity? There is but one way to survive: live, die, repeat.

Unveil the Mists, Discover the Truth: Maleficent

written by Ann

It was said that "Maleficent doesn't know about love, or kindness, or anything about helping others" from the classic Sleeping Beauty.

But all of us were mistaken. Maleficent knew about all these things but something evil drove her to curse the princess.

The truth about Sleeping Beauty's enemy is unfolded in a fairy tale story where the main character is the villain.

Maleficent is directed by Robert Stromberg and produced by Joe Roth. Playing as Maleficent is Angelina Jolie while Elle Fanning takes on the role of the princess Aurora, and Sharlto Copley as that of King Stefan.

Discover the tale through the eyes of our villain who gains courage to fight for the things she love. It tells a story of friendship between her and the king which turned bitter because of greed and ambition.

In such betrayal, she becomes consumed with hatred and revenge. It is thus where the classic tale began, and so, we realize that what we have witnessed before was just a puzzle piece of a bigger picture.

More mysteries wait to be answered. Where did Maleficent acquire her great power? What exactly happened between her and the humans for them to wage war against each other? And will Aurora remain a damsel in distress or will she be an instrument to Maleficent's grand scheme? Let us clear the mists shrouding reality. After all, the truth is never as simple as it seems.

SPECIAL A
スペシャル・エー

As students, we are often reminded to study hard and do our best. Indeed, learning is not just to get us busy but to impart to us the value of working hard in order to reach our goals. If you still don't understand just what it means to work hard, just check out Hikari Hanazono, a high school girl who, ever since being defeated in their wrestling match when they were six years old, vowed to defeat her rival, Kei Takishima. To fulfil such a promise, Hikari entered the elite school Hakusenkan in which she became part of the group of top seven students called Special A.

Hikari is seen to be doing her best while tirelessly challenging Kei. Even though Kei recognizes her perseverance, he cannot help being number one because he has been gifted with so much potential since he was a kid. Because Hikari only sees Kei as a rival and a friend, she cannot see through how much he cares about her. He had developed feelings for her because of her amiable personality, her unrelenting support to others, and her serious passion for fairness.

Special A or S.A. is a romantic comedy anime first written as a manga by Maki Minami. In 2008, it was released in 24 episodes and was even aired in the Philippines in a local TV channel the year after.

S.A. is truly an engaging must-watch because it has multifaceted stories about each character but does not compromise the central story of our heroine. Although characters that are too dense to notice someone's feelings for them is a common anime theme, Hikari's adventure (or misadventure) with Kei makes for a scenario that is closer to how people who are still at bay from directly expressing their love feel. Surely, a lot of us can relate to the feeling of being so close to getting that someone to realize how much we worship them, and yet we feel how it all falls apart when they actually don't believe it's true!

Brimming with good feels and funny antics, Special A is sure to remind you just how fun school life is, especially if you have friends with whom you can share fond memories and make out the best even during the bad times.
